Appropriate Attire
For Laboratory Personnel

When working in a laboratory, remember to wear appropriate attire and the necessary personal protective equipment:

- Knee-length lab coat (worn closed),
- Safety glasses,
- Closed shoes.

No one plans to have an accident, so keep safety in mind when choosing what clothes to wear.

- Laboratory personnel need to wear solid footwear at all times - sandals are NOT permitted, including open-back shoes.
- Summer clothing such as shorts, Capri pants, short skirts, etc. are not permitted. Laboratory personnel must ensure proper skin coverage at all times.