INTERNSHIP

POSTDOCTORAL TRAINEE in Population-Based Surveys

DESCRIPTION
Under the supervision of the principal investigators, the postdoctoral trainee will participate in a Canada-wide survey looking at public opinion of changes in the built environment in large urban areas.

RESPONSIBILITIES
The postdoctoral trainee’s main responsibilities will be as follows:
- Participate in implementing the survey
- Carry out and participate in data analyses
- Write articles for publication in scientific journals
- Participate in preparing meetings with knowledge users
- Work on preparing grant proposals

REQUIREMENTS
- Doctoral degree in a field related to epidemiology, health promotion or population health
- Sound knowledge of survey methods and statistical data analysis methods to analyze survey data (e.g. questionnaires, sample design, coding)
- Experience in survey implementation
- Good knowledge of French and English
- Good synthesis skills, autonomous, creative, good writing skills, able to work with a team.

STATUS
Full-time
Location: CHUM research centre
Duration: Two years, with an option to renew for a year
Scholarship: Based on Canadian Institutes of Health Research standards

Interested candidates should send their CV to Isabelle Thérien by EMAIL before 27 October 2017 to:
CHUM research centre
INTERNERSHIP, POSTDOCTORAL TRAINEE IN POPULATION-BASED INTERVENTIONS
900 St-Denis street, Montréal, Québec H2X 0A9
Email: isabelle.therien.ccsmtl@ssss.gouv.qc.ca
Please include the following in the Subject line: THEPA POSTDOCTORAL INTERNSHIP

Date of start of internship: As early as November 2017

Information provided in CVs will be kept confidential. No acknowledgement of receipt will be sent. Only individuals selected for interviews will be contacted.