11. Rationale for new course

From time to time, the AOS Department has visiting scholars, has new faculty, or a faculty member who wishes to teach a new topic. The course would facilitate offering topics not covered in our usual courses, which represent recent research results. Such a course would be accessible to both our undergraduate students, and to our beginning graduate students. Our only slot courses are offered at the 600 level, and are inaccessible to our undergraduate students without special permission of the instructor. The offering of ATOC 552 would allow students the flexibility of taking more than one AOS topics course at the 500-level.

12. Course Description
