Course Title	Course Title on Transcript: The Canadian City Course Title on Calendar: The Canadian City.	Course Title on Transcript: Cities in the Modern World Course Title on Calendar: Cities in the Modern World
Rationale		The new title reflects the revised content of the course, which now has two new tenure-track instructors. Expanding the focus beyond Canada will draw on the strengths of these new faculty, and will provide our students with a more comprehensive introduction to urban geography and urban systems.
Responsible Instructor		Benjamin Forest; Natalie Oswin
Course Description	An introduction to the social, economic, political and built environments of Canadian cities. Theories of the internal structure of cities, and relationships between urban places of various sizes. The course situates Canadian urbanism in the North American context, and emphasizes social and economic processes distinctive to Montreal.	An introduction to urban geography. Uses a spatial/geographic perspective to understand cities and their social and cultural processes. Addresses two major areas. The development and social dynamics in North American and European cities. The urban transformations in Asian, African, and Latin American societies that were recently predominantly rural and agrarian.
