And C as in conversations. Authors Margaret Atwood and Victoria-Lise Beaullieu covered a lot of ground in a series of encounters in 1985, aired on French-language radio a year later.

McClelland & Stewart has published a translated transcript of these chats, and it makes for fascinating reading.

Scopio Inc., in a single tale, just a man, a woman, and a super market shopping cart!

But not just a shopping cart either, but a shopping cart equipped with consequences, thanks to the Infinity Chip inherited, by the way, on Aug. 21, 1980, which also provides it with network, your database memory and the power of speech. Like other appliances of the time, it is also equipped with a
