| DESCRIPTION OF HOST ORGANIZATION:     | For more than 150 years, the McGill University Health Centre (MUHC) founding hospitals have been providing the best possible care to the community, and in 1997, the MUHC was officially created through the merger of 5 hospitals: Montreal Children’s Hospital, Montreal Chest Institute, Montreal General Hospital, Montreal Neurological Institute &amp; Hospital, and Royal Victoria Hospital. These hospitals’ respective research institutes merged to form the Research Institute of the MUHC and in 2008, the Lachine Hospital and Camille Lefebvre Pavilion also joined the MUHC. Affiliated with McGill University’s Faculty of Medicine, the MUHC is an academic health centre that provides some of the most advanced care in the province, which includes complex diagnoses, treatments, and surgeries in the areas of cardiology, endocrinology, transplantation, neurology, oncology, and respirology, among many others. The MUHC cares for some of the most critically ill patients across Quebec and provides highly-specialized care, treatments, and medical testing that other hospitals simply cannot offer. In June of 2015, the Glen site of the MUHC was inaugurated and this complex now houses the new Montreal Children’s Hospital, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal Chest Institute, the Cedars Cancer Centre, and the Research Institute of the MUHC. Patients and their families are at the heart of the design and layout of the new hospital. With 1,356 physicians and over 12,000 nurses, support staff, and employees, the hospital at the Glen site is a patient-centred facility that helps to not only heal the body, but also the soul. It has helped the MUHC transform the way in which it delivers the highest level of care to our population, ensuring that all patients truly receive the best care for life. In addition to clinical care, the MUHC is an international research powerhouse that conducts both fundamental and clinical research. The Research Institute of the MUHC supports 446 researchers and ongoing research collaborations with 62 countries; it continues to shape the course of adult and pediatric medicine by attracting research leaders from around the world. Every year, close to 3,000 students train at the MUHC, including medical and surgical residents, nurses, medical students, and allied-health students.
