Archana Ramaswamy, MD, MBA

Associate Professor of Surgery, University of Minnesota
Associate Program Director, Minneapolis VA Medical Center

Archana Ramaswamy is Associate Professor of Surgery at the University of Minnesota and a staff surgeon at the Minneapolis VA Medical Center where she serves as director of the surgery clerkship and associate program director for the general surgery residency. She completed medical school and residency at McGill University followed by minimally invasive and bariatric surgery fellowship at Emory University. She then worked at the University of Missouri School of Medicine for 7 years where she was the MIS/bariatric fellowship director, moving to the University of Minnesota in 2012. She obtained a healthcare MBA from the University of St. Thomas in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Dr. Ramaswamy's clinical interests include bariatrics, hernia, foregut, and endoscopy. She is internationally recognized for her expertise in hernia and foregut surgery, and she lectures and presents widely. Dr. Ramaswamy is on the Board of Directors of The Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons (SAGES) where she has served on multiple committees, including chair of the Communications Committee and co-chair of the Open to MIS task force. She has also served in several leadership roles at the American College of Surgeons.

We are thrilled to welcome Dr. Ramaswamy back home to McGill as the 19th Annual Steinberg-Bernstein Visiting Professor in Minimally Invasive Surgery.
