

*McGill University's School of Social Work and
The Faculty of Law are proud to present...*

An Annie MacDonald Langstaff - Margot E. Halpenny Lecture by:

Dr. Cindy Blackstock,

Executive Director, First Nations Child and Family Caring Society of Canada

*Reconciliation means not having to say sorry twice:
Implications of the historic ruling of the CHRT for reconciliation*

Wednesday,
February 17, 2016
4:30 pm – 6:30 pm

Moot Court, Room 100
New Chancellor Day Hall,
Faculty of Law
3644 Peel Street

This event is free and open to the public

Space is limited

RSVP: February 12th
marilena.orsini@mcgill.ca

In 2007, the First Nations Child and Family Caring Society and the Assembly of First Nations filed a human rights complaint against the Federal government, alleging that Canada's failure to provide equitable and culturally based child welfare services to First Nations children on-reserve amounts to discrimination on the basis of race and ethnic origin.

Join us for a discussion on this landmark human rights case to end federal government discrimination against First Nations children.

Dr. Blackstock will discuss the actions that led up to the court case, rulings by the court, evidence heard and the implications for Indigenous children, families and Canada as a whole.

For more information on the case, visit:
www.fncaresociety.com/i-am-witness

