

1st Annual Mechanical Engineering
GRADUATE
RESEARCH DAY 2016

Celebrate National Engineering Month with GAMES-McGill!

The Graduate Association of Mechanical Engineering Students at McGill University (GAMES-McGill) is contributing to National Engineering Month this March through a Graduate Research Day. This academic showcase, with two potential mini-symposia (poster and oral presentations), will highlight the multi-disciplinary research being conducted within the Mechanical Engineering Department by its graduate students and post-doctoral fellows.

The Call for Abstracts has been distributed. If interested in participating in the Research Showcase, please fill out the Abstracts Application Form, and email it directly to games.pgss@mail.mcgill.ca.
