Coming soon: The McGill Library Orientation Game | Raising Spirits: a Timely Diversion

News

In keeping with the library's ludic spirit, we have leveraged our considerable digital resources to develop a series of linked games to welcome students to our virtual campus in September.

Guides will be conjured from the aether to lead players through a pastiche of social media, interactive maps, archival documents, digital time capsules, grainy videos, and spatial projections as they navigate the McGill campus and unravel its historical mysteries.

As a library offering, the game will showcase our resources and situate the library as the heart of the campus' material and immaterial circulations.

Information about online workshops on using library resources and developing your research skills will be sent to your McGill email!
