Description of the Organisation

The African Alliance is a queer-led, non-profit organisation, founded in 2013 as a space for some of the continent’s best minds in development and transformation to come together to collaborate, strategize, and collectively advance rights-based work. With a shared understanding of a collective past, present and hope for the future of the African continent and its people, the African Alliance seeks to both deepen understandings of, and strengthen a practice grounded in Feminism and Pan-Africanism by advancing rights-based, critical and developmental programming that addresses the needs of inadequately served populations across the continent.

The African Alliance is staffed by a 100% African team, with a skill set that spans advocacy, research, evaluation, strategy and media. It works closely with a wide range of non-profit organisations in a network that, while rooted in the local, is connected to and visible in national, regional, and global action. Its work is underpinned by a thoughtful, inclusive, and consultative practice that, importantly, resonates with the values of its team members,
