

Parliamentary Oversight of Public Finance

Microcredential

Made by aiming higher

Offered by the McGill School of Continuing Studies

MADE by McGill

Contribute to transparent and accountable governance by enhancing your knowledge of parliamentary financial committees 🍁

McGill University's new Microcredential in Parliamentary Oversight of Public Finance provides a comprehensive overview of the role of parliament in overseeing public finance and how the "money" (and other) committees can be effectively organized to ensure impact.

online

part-time

2 six-week courses

non-credit

What Will You Learn?

This microcredential is designed to enhance your skills to:

- Understand the meaning and relevance of the three main objectives of public financial management and how they impact parliament and political choices
- Analyze the roles of committee chairs, members, and parliamentary staff in ensuring the effectiveness of a committee
- Appraise the role of the legislature throughout the key stages of the budget process across different jurisdictions
- Follow the primary steps in conducting a parliamentary inquiry
- Identify the various forms and benefits of public consultation by committee
- Clarify the role of a committee in monitoring government activity and scrutinizing draft laws, including the budget

Who Should Attend?

Members of Parliament, who are newly appointed to one of their legislatures' committees (e.g., Appropriations, Budget, Finance, or Public Accounts committees), and parliamentary staff supporting these committees.

This microcredential counts towards the completion of the Professional Development Certificate in Parliamentary Management or Parliamentary Governance.

Fees

Regular fee: CAD 1,990
Save $200 when you register for both courses at the same time

Program information

parl.scs@mcgill.ca

🍁 Learn more:

