

Operations Management Research Healthcare Management

Healthcare forms an enormous part of the Canadian economy. Streamlining healthcare processes in order to provide timely and quality care to patients is of pivotal importance to improve social welfare. Operations Management members had been involved in all kinds of healthcare research projects such as scheduling or waiting room problems in the hospitals of Montreal, Canada.