Course Description

This course aims to provide students with necessary tools to speak, read and write Korean fluently in daily life situations. This consists of deepening grammar and vocabulary knowledge as well as practicing speaking, listening and writing skills. Continuing learning more complex sentence structures, we will also focus on contextual aspects. Special attention is given to word formation in order to recognize and use minimal grammatical or meaning elements which constitute words in a sentence. After completing the course, students should have a good overall command of the language and be ready to study advanced Korean.

The lecture will follow closely the content of the textbook McGill Korean 2. For details, please refer to the table of content of the book. The organization of a typical week is 4 lectures with the instructor and 1 lecture with a TA who will lead mainly listening and speaking exercises.
