

Fall 2018 Bios Seminars

Date	Speaker	Title
September 17, 2018	Frank E. Harrell Jr., Vanderbilt University – Special Seminar	The Central Limit Theorem, Testing for Normality, and Other Misleading Ideas
CANCELLED September 18, 2018	Laurent Charlin, HEC Montreal, Business School	Deep Learning and Conversational Agents
October 2, 2018	Jay E. Jones, Weyerhaeuser Company	What Does a Statistician Do? The View from a Different Sort of Bio-Statistician
October 9, 2018	Hedibert F. Lopes, Insper Brazil	Efficient Sampling for Gaussian Linear Regression with Arbitrary Priors
MOVED TO MONDAY OCTOBER 15, 2018	David M. Kent, Tufts University	Moving from Evidence-Based Medicine to Personalized Medicine: Understanding Heterogeneous Treatment Effects in the Era of Patient-Centered Care
October 23, 2018	Hormuzd Katki, National Cancer Institute	Quantifying Risk Stratification Provided by Diagnostic Tests and Risk Predictions: Application to Population Mutation Screening
October 30, 2018	No Seminar	Please see Special Seminars for this week
November 6, 2018	James Hanley	LEST WE FORGET: Some History of Statistics and Some Statistics in History
November 13, 2018	No Seminar	Replaced by Special Seminar Nov. 12, 201
November 20, 2018	Special Seminar Mohammad Jafari Jozani	Developing a New Rank-Based Quantile Regression Methodology for Monitoring the Prevalence of Osteoporosis
November 27, 2018	No Seminar	Replaced by Special Seminar Nov. 26, 2018