

Epidemiology Seminars - Winter 2021

Date	Speaker	Title	RECORDING
January 11, 2021	Alyssa Bilinski (Harvard University)	Goldilocks and the Pre-Intervention Time Series: How Long is "Just Right" and the Parallel Trends Implications	Not Available
January 25, 2021	Xiangfei Meng (McGill)	How do Adverse Early Life Experiences Influence Our Mental Health?	Recording Link
February 8, 2021	Marc Beltempo (McGill)	Resource Allocation in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit – Does it Matter?	Recording Link
February 22, 2021	Kelly K. Anderson (Western University)	Psychosis among Migrant Groups in Ontario: Differences in Risk, Access to Care, and Clinical Presentation at First Onset	Available upon request
March 15, 2021	Joanna Merckx (McGill)	Transmission of SARS-CoV-2 in School-Aged Children: Evidence from Belgian Sero-Prevalence Studies and School Based Surveillance	Recording Link
JOINT SEMINAR 12-1pm March 22, 2021	Senjuti Saha (Child Health Research Foundation, Bangladesh)	SPECIAL TIME - 12-1PM Tackling Paediatric Infections in Low-Resource Settings REGISTRATION LINK
March 29, 2021	Brett Thombs (McGill)	Using Cohorts and other Types of Routinely Conducted Data as Trial Frameworks: Examples from the Scleroderma Patient-Centered Intervention Network	Recording