

McGill Faculty Club Newsletter

Faculty Club Newsletter, November 2019 Edition

I would like to inform all members that in the Main dining room we have a table called “The round table”. This table is open to all members that wish to exchange ideas and discuss daily events around the world. It gives the opportunity to get to know Faculty members from other Faculties and thus creating a sense of community. So don’t be shy to join the group sitting at the round table, I am sure you will enjoy the company.

The McGill Faculty club has added a new partner that our members can take advantage of when traveling. We have made a reciprocal agreement with the City University Club of London. Remember to ask Natasha to prepare a letter of introduction, if you plan to visit. Here is their website: <http://www.cityuniversityclub.co.uk>.

Parking services has added a new service that might interest some members. It is now possible for members that come to the club for a short time and need to park their car, to use the new service the member has to call directly parking services at (514) 398-4559. They have established a rate of $3.50 for every 30 minutes and they only accept credit cards.

On Wednesday, October 23rd, the Faculty Club hosted its Annual Oyster night. The event was in high demand, as were the expectations. The evening was a huge success and we received great comments from members about the quality, choice of food served and the attentive service provided. Finally, a special thank you to all the members who attended the event - your continued support is truly appreciated.

Bridge: Tuesdays, November 5th and 19th in the Maude Abbott Room, 1:15 to 4:15 pm.

As usual, all bridge players are invited to the Faculty Club. The event takes place on Tuesday every two weeks and new participants are always welcome. Organized by the McGill Committee for Retired Professors, the game afternoons are perfectly combined with a drink and a snack during matches.
