

MCGILL FAMILY MEDICINE RESEARCH SEMINARS

“WHAT’S A CELLPHILM?’ USING EVERYDAY TECHNOLOGIES TO ENGAGE IN PARTICIPATORY VISUAL”

Dr. Casey Burkholder

Casey Burkholder is a PhD candidate, an instructor of pre-service teachers, and an arts-based researcher. She first became invested in the relationships between space, belonging, and civic engagement from a young age, growing up in Canada’s North. In choosing a research path at the intersection of citizenship, gender, inclusion, DIY media-making, and Social Studies education, Casey believes her work may contribute to ‘research as intervention’ (Mitchell, 2011) through participatory approaches to equity and social change. She is a member of the Participatory Cultures Lab and associated with the McGill Institute for Human Development and Well-being.

Thursday April 21, 2016
From 12:30-1:30 p.m.
Department of Family Medicine
5858 ch. de la Côte-des-Neiges, 3rd floor, suite 300

BRING YOUR LUNCH! There will be light refreshments.
There is no parking on site and parking is limited in the area. Taxis and public transport are advised.

Cannot make the seminar physically, but would like to attend? Please register for the webinar here.
(Note: Students from FMED 504 are expected to attend)

McGill

Department of Family Medicine

Département de médecine de famille