Get ready for Orientation Week!

A message from Campus Life & Engagement, the one office dedicated new McGill students.

Hi!

We want you to join us for Orientation Week, August 26 to September 3, a week jam-packed with fun activities to help you get to know McGill and Montreal.

Throughout the week the focus will be on you as a new student! The many different events and Froshes at McGill will have something for everyone in our diverse student population.

What is Orientation Week?
Orientation Week is a week of events that takes place during the days leading up to the beginning of classes. It's an excellent opportunity for new students to get to know the university, the city of Montreal, fellow first-years, and upper-year students.

Orientation kicks off right after Residence Move-In Weekend on August 24 and 25.

New students studying on the Macdonald Campus (under the Faculty of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences), can attend the Discover Mac orientation and start their university careers on the right foot!

Check the Orientation page for more details on the full offering events, including events on the Downtown campus, Macdonald campus, and for specific students populations and international students.

What is Frosh?

Frosh is a multi-day event that is a part of Orientation Week at McGill and is mainly comprised of social events. Frosh is coordinated by either a club, group, or Faculty/School student association.

Student executives and volunteers tasked with organizing Frosh events strive to guarantee that McGill's incoming class of students enjoys the safest, most entertaining, and most inclusive week possible, while also ensuring the long-term sustainability of the event!

Faculty Frosh vs. Non-Faculty Frosh

Faculty Froshes are organized by different undergraduate faculty, departmental, or school student associations, while Non-Faculty Froshes are organized by different interest groups.
For the full list of Froshes you can attend, including Arts Frosh, Music Frosh, Muslim Students' Association McGill Frosh and more. Take note that our website for Orientation Week 2019 is still under construction, as are those of specific Froshes, so you may need to check back later in the summer for more detail on specific programming.

If you have any more O-Week questions, our website has a list of FAQs for you. Stay on the lookout for our email announcing the official launch of the Orientation Week 2019 website and our O-Week registration guide.

As always, feel free to visit our First-Year website or to contact our team if you have questions, concerns, ideas and more. Have a great week!

Regards,
