Instructor Message Regarding Course Delivery

In accordance with University and Faculty of Arts' guidelines, this course will be delivered completely in-person, unless a major event requires a different delivery. Communication with the professor, and online office hours will take place during regular working hours.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course successful students will be able to understand and produce oral discourse which has a connection with the Health Sciences in an intermediate level of French. Students will also be able to broaden their specific vocabulary and terminology of their field of studies in the target language.

Listening: Students will be able to understand oral discourse, vocabulary, and syntax of an intermediate level.

Speaking: Students will be able to use more precise and appropriate vocabulary and to express their ideas in a more accurate way for this level. They should be able to learn from the corrections made by the instructor.

Reading: They should be able to understand a broader number of authentic or adapted documents and genres within the Health Sciences and Social Work.

Instructional Method

During the Winter 2024 session, the students and the instructor will meet on Thursdays at 6:05 p.m. In this class students will develop and practice their speaking skills by means of previous reading or listening activities. This course will help students prepare their work placements in French since they will practice with case studies similar to real work-life situations. This course also includes oral activities which are inspired by the OQLF Exams. Even though there is no final mark, students are strongly invited to participate in the classes and activities.

Expectations for Student Participation

Your active participation is strongly encouraged. Class participation has an impact on class work. If a student misses class regularly, their progress will be affected. An appropriate behaviour is expected during class.

Evaluation

Even though this subject has no credits and, therefore, no final grade, the instructor will provide feedback to students on their learning. Students must participate in all class activities and role-plays. In this class, there will be one type of assessment: oral production of discourse.

If there were oral assignments, they should be submitted via myCourses/Bongo, unless otherwise specified. Please consult the link to the FAQs for students using myCourses: Assignments.

Language of submission

In courses in which acquiring proficiency in a language is one of the objectives, the assessments shall be in the language of the course. This means, submissions must be done in French.

PLAGIARISM IN ACADEMIC WORK

Academic integrity

Evaluations in FRS� courses are designed to assess progress and give feedback on students' proficiency throughout the course, so they will fully benefit from their learning experience. In these times of remote delivery, academic integrity remains of vital importance to any higher education institution with rigorous standards. Admittedly, learning conditions are currently affected by pandemic constraints, which can cause some confusion regarding students' responsibilities. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with McGill policies on plagiarism and to consult with their instructor should they have any doubt regarding what is or is not permitted.

In oral or written assignments, dictations, translations, essays, oral or written presentations, summaries, projects, thesis, research reports, etc.:

What is not accepted?

- Copying or submitting any academic work that has been produced by another student or another person (all or in part). Allowing another student or any another person to provide answers or correct your work.
- Allowing a resource person (native speaker, language teacher, monitor, tutor, advanced student) to produce or correct your work, translate written texts to or from the target language or interpret/explain oral comprehension exercises for you.
- Handing in written work or preparing oral work largely inspired by or copied from somebody else's work without clearly acknowledging sources (books, articles, essays, course notes, films, radio programs, audio documents, Web, etc.) and showing the extent of the borrowing.
- Presenting for grading any academic work (oral or written) for which you have already received academic credit or presenting the same work for grading more than once.

What is acceptable or recommended?

- Consulting resource persons for explanations but without receiving answers or corrections for the work to be submitted.
- Practising language skills with qualified resource persons.
- Studying intelligently with fellow students.
- Sharing information within team members working on a group project.
- Using your own words, making up your own sentences and using quotation marks when borrowing from someone's work.
- Identifying sources and documenting information and ideas even when material is not directly quoted.

Specific aspects to FRSL courses

Course requirement:

- In order to obtain a passing grade and credits for a course, students must complete all assignments and evaluations listed in the method of evaluation (see syllabus).

Level transfers:

- The department reserves the right to transfer a student to a lower-level or a higher-level language course if it is deemed that the course for which the student has registered is not appropriate for the extent of his or her knowledge of the language.

Add-drop period:

- Students registering for language courses during the add/drop period (after classes have commenced) are required to make up missed assignments and assessments. It is the student's responsibility to catch up on work missed during the add/drop period. Any request for make-up regarding assignments and exams due/held during the add-drop period should be made to the instructor within 10 days of course registration.

Audio-visual recording of oral presentations:

- Please note that all students' oral evaluations will be audio or video-recorded by the instructor, who will be the only person to have access to these recordings. Recordings will be destroyed one year after the end of the course.

Wellness hub:

- As the instructor of this course, I endeavor to provide an inclusive learning environment. However, if you experience barriers to learning in this course, do not hesitate to discuss them with me and the Student Accessibility and Achievement Office, 514-398-6009.
