Office hours by appointment and every Wednesday 12-2pm

- o This class will be taught over MyCourses and will be asynchronous with the optional ability to join discussion groups during the class time and call into extended office hours.
- o Video lectures will be made available each Friday morning, and will run about 30-40 minutes. Required class discussions will take place in MyCourses or in the group Zoom on Friday afternoons. You can choose which fits your schedule better.
- o The lectures will be recorded and available on Thursday morning.
- o Class discussions will count as homework assignments, you can choose if you want to get credit for the discussion in the group over Zoom or if you participate online. You can change this each week as you wish. Refer to the syllabus for guidelines on how to participate in the discussions.

o I am available by email at suzanne.kite@mcgill.ca , and my office hours are Wednesdays 12 pm EST to 2 pm EST but appointment times are flexible.

Instructional Method

This course will engage with the materials through reading, lectures, online and zoom discussion, annotated bibliographies.

Please use MyCourses to complete all assignments.

Weekly Assignments

Bibliography Entries and Discussion

Due for the top reading/viewing (highlighted in green on the syllabus) anytime before end of semester.

Write one annotated MLA bibliography entry for each green highlighted reading or artwork and submit on MyCourses as an Assignment. Details will be provided in first lecture.

Discussions:

Option 1: Submit three questions for the top reading in the MyCourses Discussion and answer 1 of your classmate's questions.

Option 2: Join the Zoom discussion Friday 08:35 am-11:25 am EST

NOTE: I will take attendance and give you credit for joining, you must comment in the MyCourses Discussion "Attended class".

All Assignments and Discussions can be submitted anytime during the semester.

Feedback will be provided in MyCourses on each assignment.
