

IHSP

POLICY TALKS

Webinar Series

October 20th

12:30-1:30 EDT

The Girl in the Pandemic

Moderator: Claudia Mitchell, Distinguished James McGill Professor, Director of the IHDW

Relebohile Moletsane, Professor and John Langalibalele Dube Chair in Rural Education, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa.

Eleni Negash, Gender Officer, Agricultural Transformation Through Stronger Vocational Education, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Hannah Pugh, Project Coordinator, Agricultural Transformation Through Stronger Vocational Education, Dalhousie University.

Jennifer Thompson, Postdoctoral Fellow, Center for Public Health Research (CReSP), University of Montreal

Katherine L. Frohlich, Professor, École de Santé Publique et CReSP, Université de Montréal

Marianne Dupré-Deslandes, Student, UQAM

Some have referred to the current Covid-19 crisis as a “tale of two pandemics” in reference to both the obvious health issues and the pervasive gender inequalities that have become exacerbated. All around the world, girls and young women are facing increasing levels of precariousness. In this talk, our speakers from Quebec, South Africa and Ethiopia, will highlight how the question becomes one of how to address these new contexts. They will also speak to how critical it is that we learn with and from girls and young women in a time of distancing, and when our efforts could do more harm than good.

ZOOM LINK : <https://mcgill.zoom.us/j/84571618125>

IHSP Policy Talks are seminars led by researchers, policymakers, and practitioners concerning key challenges, evidence, and strategies for improving population health, well-being, and equity.

Talks will be recorded and posted at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC1peo5J2pih7qnKp1uFe4sQ>