I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Ethnic conflict is one of the most powerful forces shaping contemporary politics and remains a prevailing challenge to international security of our time. Unresolved or poorly managed ethnic conflicts can pose serious threats to human lives, domestic stability and territorial integrity of existing states. They can spill over from one country to another and destabilize an entire region. The wide variety of ethnic conflicts that exist today also raise serious questions about the role of international actors.

In this course, we will discuss the meaning of ethnicity, its relation to nationalism, and the theories that indicate why ethnicity and identity can lead to conflict. The goal is to use an interdisciplinary approach and build a framework for understanding and analyzing ethnic conflict at both the theoretical and practical level. We will also consider approaches to group conflict management and resolution, evaluating the probabilities of establishing and maintaining a stable society politically, economically, and socially.

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- Explain the main theories of ethnic identity and their relevance to ethnic conflict.
- Identify the conditions under which such conflicts are likely to exist and persist
- Evaluate and discuss the existing policy solutions to mitigate and/or prevent ethnic conflict
- Explain the causes and consequences of conflict in several cases discussed throughout the course: Canada, Rwanda, the Balkans, Sri Lanka, and the Kurds in the Middle East.

II. REQUIRED READINGS

All of the required texts are available and be posted on MyCourses.

III. COURSE ASSESSMENT

The final grade in this course will be based on the following parts:

Assessment Components	Percentage

Critical Essay, due on Nov 17 at 5pm (EST)	35%
Final Exam (during the final exam period)	35%

1. Midterm Exam (30%):

There will be one in-class midterm examination on October 20th. The midterm will be in essay format and will focus on the material covered from the beginning of the course up to the midterm. More information will be posted on MyCourses closer to date.

Note: Make-up exam policy for midterm: Students cannot make it up unless they have a legitimate reason recognized by McGill as excusable, such as illness. Students who miss the midterm because of health reasons must submit sufficient and valid documentation (e.g. doctor's note) vouching for the absence. The make-up exam might follow a different format than the main exam.

2. Critical Essay (35%):

Students are required to write a critical essay in groups of 4 or 5 students. Students will be asked to choose a case study from a list of cases to be posted on MyCourses. Individual submission will not be accepted, resulting in a zero for this portion of the course evaluation.

This is a maximum 10-page paper excluding bibliography (Times New Roman font, double-spaced, 12-font size, 2.54cm margins on all sides). Students are expected to submit PDF copies on MyCourses >> INTD397 >> Critical Essay by Dec 17 (5pm (EST)). One submission per group. Submission via email will NOT be accepted. More information and instructions will be available on MyCourses.

Please follow the guidelines on writing a research paper provided on MyCourses, such as formatting and citation rules, as well as the thesis and content. Provide clear arguments and support your arguments with examples and evidence.

Note: Late assignments will be marked down one letter grade one letter grade per day late as of then (for example: A → A-).

Extension policy: Students will not be granted an extension unless they have a legitimate reason recognized by McGill as excusable (such as illness) and provide valid documentation.

3) Final Exam (35%): The final exam is cumulative and will be held in person during the exam period. This examination will focus on the material studied from the beginning to the end of the course. Information on the final exam schedule will be posted on McGill examination website.

4) Discussion/Q&A Sessions: Throughout the semester, there will be several conference sessions held during regular class time and led by your TA. In addition, I will be holding regular Q&A sessions during class time to respond to your content-related questions. While attendance will NOT be taken, it is highly recommended.

IV. SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS:

Please ask the OSD to notify me immediately if you require any kind of special accommodations for the course. If you are registered with the OSD office and/or have a chronic condition that requires special accommodation, check to make sure that the necessary documentation is sent to me at the beginning of the semester. Please feel free to make an office hours appointment if you would like to discuss any necessary accommodations.

V. RE-GRADING POLICY:

To request a re-grade, students must submit a written document, not exceeding a double-spaced page (12 font size, Time New Romans, 2.54cm of margin on all sides), and no later than 7 working days after your exam/assignments have been returned to the class. In this document, students must explain why they think they deserve a better grade. Any grade complaint that references how hard you worked/studied or how well you assumed you had performed on the exam will be rejected immediately. Please note that I reserve the right to keep your grade the same or lower it. Please also note that I always do the second reading of exams/essays with much more scrutiny. Therefore, it would be fair to expect the grades to go down or stay the same upon a second grading.
