Course Description

In this course, you will read the Divine Comedy by Dante Alighieri (1265-1321), and you will learn how to situate this text in the context of medieval culture. In particular, the course will expand on Dante’s masterpiece to further discuss themes related to medieval society, religious history and political thought. Completely delivered online, the course will connect Dante’s text with other documents including documentaries, critical readings and visual sources contributing to highlight this poem’s influence and significance. As suggested in the title, our goal is twofold: you will understand Dante in light of medieval culture, and medieval culture in light of Dante.

Required Readings

All the textual and visual sources required for this course are available on MyCourses under the section “Content.”

Course Schedule

The course is organized into 11 weekly modules completely delivered online. Each module opens on Sunday evening and is distributed over the following week. It includes: 1. An introduction consisting of a documentary and a quiz; 2. Two interactive reading activities powered by Perusall;
3. A Live session on Zoom at the end of the module as indicated above, and an end-of-module written assignment. The schedule and other contents are available on MyCourses.

N.B. Unsubmitted work is graded with a 0. The two lowest grades earned in each category will not count toward your final grade.

Course Requirements

To facilitate your understanding of the mechanics of this course, the first week will include quizzes, the discussion of Perusall and a short assignment that are not going to be graded. Although they will not affect your final grade, these activities are meant to make you accustomed to the virtual environment of the course and the weekly routine it entails.

Quizzes (30%)

Each module begins with an introduction comprising a documentary and a graded quiz including multiple choice questions, fill in the blank, matching, ordering etc. The quizzes will be accessible for the entire duration of the course. However, you will have only 30 minutes once you start working on a specific quiz.

Perusall Discussions (30%)

Each module will comprise 2 online group discussion powered by Perusall, that is, a platform for social annotation. Each discussion will be open for 72 hours during which, you are expected to read the text under examination, address the instructor’s prompts, follow up on the other participants’ posts and read the entire conversation. Overall, your performance will be assessed according to the following rubric:

1. Average reading time: you should spend at least 45 minutes examining the text on your own before contributing to the group discussion. (20%)

2. Word count: overall, I expect you to contribute to each discussion with 150-250 words distributed in at least 3 contributions as detailed below. (30%)

3. Quality of your comments: your contribution should include at least three comments, and more specifically one answer to the instructor’s prompt, one reply to somebody else’s comment and one question for your group. Your comments should always be polite, pertinent to the item under examination and well informed. (50%)
Assignments (weekly) (40%)

Each assignment will consist of 3 short answers (200-300 words each) to questions dealing with the material covered in the previous modules and one textual analysis. Each assignment will be available for 1 week, during which you will have to download the file with the questions, complete them and upload the file on my courses. In case you cannot make it within a week, make sure to contact me as soon as possible but remember that you can have only two extensions during the term. Each assignment will be evaluated according to the following rubric:

1. Factual accuracy: the questions will test your knowledge of a number of facts examined in the module. Accuracy is an important component of your assignment’s success. 40%
2. Language: although this is not main the focus of this course, proper use of academic English does matter and I expect you to submit carefully edited assignments. 30%
3. Coherence and structure: the answers need to be written as neatly structured paragraphs. For helpful guidelines on how to formulate claims and structure paragraphs and essays, see W. Booth et als. The Craft of Research. 2016 (available online through the McGill library). 30%

Attendance and Class Conduct 10 %

Your attendance will be measured based on your: punctuality in submitting your required course work on time; regularity in examining the materials posted on MyCourses; politeness and professionalism in interacting with the other students enrolled in this class.

STATEMENTS

Fixed Hours of Instruction

This course is for the most part asynchronous. The weekly live session on Zoom takes place on Thursday, 235-355. While your attendance is warmly encouraged, it is not mandatory: the session will be recorded and made available on MyCourses. Each reading activity on Perusall will be available for 72 hours during which you will have to read the text and contribute with at least 3 posts as detailed below. After 72 hours, the reading material will still be available but you are not going to be able to interact with the rest of the class.

Recordings

Live Zoom sessions will be recorded and your image, voice and name may be disclosed to classmates. Note that by remaining in sessions that are being recorded, you are agreeing to the recording. For more information, please read the Guidelines on Remote Teaching and Learning (https://www.mcgill.ca/tls/instructors/class-disruption/strategies/guidelines-remote) and the course outline for this course in MyCourses.

Statement on Inclusivity

The Department of Languages, Literatures, and Cultures endeavors to provide an inclusive learning environment. However, if you experience barriers to learning in this course, do not hesitate to discuss them with your instructor and the Office for Students with Disabilities (https://www.mcgill.ca/osd): 514-398-6009. Students with a documented disability should contact the OSD as soon as possible to request an official letter outlining authorized accommodations. This letter should be given to the instructor at the beginning of the semester. Please note that it might not be possible to accommodate last minute requests for accommodations.

Statement on Academic Integrity

McGill University values academic integrity. Therefore all students must understand the meaning and consequences of cheating, plagiarism and other academic offences under the Code of Student Conduct and Disciplinary Procedures (see www.mcgill.ca/integrity for more information). L'université McGill attache une haute importance à l'honnêteté académique. Il incombe par conséquent à tous les étudiants de comprendre ce que l'on entend par tricherie, plagiat et autres infractions académiques, ainsi que les conséquences que peuvent avoir de telles actions, selon le Code de conduite de l'étudiant et des procédures disciplinaires (pour de plus amples renseignements, veuillez consulter le site www.mcgill.ca/integrity).

Language Policy In accord with McGill University’s Charter of Students’ Rights, students in this course have the right to submit in English or in French any written work that is to be graded.
