The screenshot displays the McGill University School of Continuing Studies website. At the top left is the McGill logo and the text "School of Continuing Studies". On the top right are icons for a grid, an envelope, a speech bubble, and a bell. Below the header is a navigation bar with "Technical Support", "Credit Courses", and "Writing Centre". The main heading is "McGill University School of Continuing Studies". Underneath is a "My Courses" section with a dropdown arrow. It contains two course cards, each with a red-tinted image of blood cells. The first card is titled "Latest Update on Myelodysplastic Syndromes (MDS)" and the second is "Latest Update on Myeloproliferative Neoplasms (MPN)". At the bottom of the course section is a blue link that says "View All Courses (2)".
