

SEEF Report

Charlotte Aubrac
July 2023

With many thanks to the SEEF, I was able to attend and present my thesis work at the 98th Annual Conference of the Western Economic Association International (WEAI), which took place in San Diego from July 2nd to July 6th. At the conference, I met with many researchers and listened to many presentations on a diverse array of economic fields, from carbon markets to migration to education effects to sports economics. All of that made for a truly inspiring experience where I learned a lot. At the session where I presented, I received strong feedback on my work. Overall, attending the 98th Annual Conference of the WEAI was a very positive experience that deeply enriched my graduate learning experience at McGill. This opportunity was fully made possible thanks to the SEEF funding I received, for which I am eternally grateful! Thank you so much for allowing me to go to San Diego and attend this event!

Below are two pictures of the conference, one with my badge (and the view) and one of the welcome banner (sadly, I don't have pictures of my session).
