Hi Everyone.

Continuing our theme of educational awards from last week, this week's Departmental Acknowledgment goes to Terry Sigman for her Transition to Clinical Practice (TCP) Teaching Award.

TCP is that somewhat awkward phase in the MDCM program between classroom based didactic teaching and the role as a Clerk on a medical team with assigned patient care responsibilities. With respect to much that is fundamental to being a physician, the students at this point are largely blank slates and superb instruction is important. For this at its most fundamental, Terry is recognized by this Award as a superb student educator.

TCP is not the only domain of education for which Terry contributes. She also heads up our Department's Continuing Professional Development (CPD) activities that targets practicing physicians outside the academic milieu. Terry has done much to revitalize and extend its activities. Administratively, Terry has long served as the Division Director for Pediatric Gastroenterology and Nutrition.

Please join me in congratulating Terry on her TCP Award.

Have a great weekend everyone!

Michael
