

McGill

Tenure-Track Faculty Position

Open to rank of Assistant Professor

Canada Research Chair Tier 2 in Molecular Parasitology for eligible candidate

Position in Faculty of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences (Institute of Parasitology)

The Canada Research Chair is also open to internal candidates who already hold a tenure-track or tenured faculty position at McGill University.

Position description

Applications are encouraged from scientists working on parasite systems of veterinary and human importance, in particular with research programs focusing on molecular or immunological aspects of parasitology. The appointee is expected to develop a competitive research program supported by external funding and will participate in undergraduate and graduate teaching within the Faculty of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences (<http://www.mcgill.ca/macdonald/>).

If the successful candidate satisfies the specific eligibility conditions of the program, the candidate may be supported by the University for nomination to a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair (CRC) in Molecular Parasitology, which provides protected time for research within a full-time academic appointment.

Tier 2 Chairs are for emerging researchers (individuals who are no more than 10 years from having earned their highest degree). However, career interruptions (e.g. maternity or parental leave, extended sick leave, clinical training, family care, etc.) may be taken into consideration using the Tier 2 justification process to review the candidate's eligibility. Potential applicants who are more than 10 years from their highest degree with career interruptions may contact the institution to have their eligibility reviewed through the Tier 2 justification process. The eligibility conditions for the CRC chairs are described at http://www.chairs-chaires.gc.ca/program-programme/nomination-mise_en_candidature-eng.aspx#s3.

Qualifications and Education requirements

Candidates holding a PhD or equivalent with demonstrated research excellence and the potential for high-quality teaching in the broad area of Molecular Parasitology are invited to submit applications. We seek applicants with a history of excellent and impactful publications and success in securing extramural research funding.

This is a re-posting of a previously advertised position for an Assistant Professor in the Institute of Parasitology; previous applicants need not re-apply.
