OUT OF MIND, OUT OF SIGHT

Moyse Hall, Arts Building, 853 Sherbrooke West

The Brockville Mental Health Centre in Ontario is a facility for men and women who commit violent crimes but are adjudged to be "Not Criminally Responsible on Account of Mental Disorder." Acclaimed documentary filmmaker John Kastner (Life With Murder) spent 18 months at Brockville filming the day-to-day life of four patients — Michael, Carole, Sal, and Justine — as they struggled with their mental illnesses, tried to come to terms with the events that caused them to be institutionalized, and dealt with their mixed emotions about reintegration into a society that for the most part would prefer to forget them. Candid, compassionate, and absolutely unforgettable, the film won the Best Canadian Feature Documentary Award at Hot Docs 2014.

Post-screening discussion with John and Brenda Stewart (brother and sister of the central character in the movie), Dr. Gerry Wiviott, Psychiatrist at the McGill University Health Centre, and Dr. Stephen Liben, McGill Programs in Whole Person Care. The conversation, moderated by Dr. Tom Hutchinson, Director, McGill Programs in Whole Person Care, will focus on the surprising transformation that occurs in this very medical movie.
