

CATH 330 – RELG 318

African Christianity

Dr. Chukwuemeka
Anthony Atansi

Adjunct Professor, Course Lecturer
SRS McGill University

Fall 2022 [1 Sept. - 1 Dec.]

Tuesday and Thursday

11:05 - 12:25

Email: chukwuemeka.atansi@mcgill.ca

Course Description:

Africa has now become the continent with the largest number of Christians. This course examines the faith, practice, and lived experiences of African Christians - both in their historic and contemporary dimensions, within Africa and the African diaspora. The goal is to help students to dialogue with this appreciate its broader significance for the ever-evolving and expanding Christian tradition, the complexity of culture-contact and the creativity it unleashes. The course is divided into three modules: (1) outlines the history, development and landscape of Christianity in Africa, (2) explores the various expressions of African Christianity, and (3) reflects on the