Celebrating McGill's Research Community

*—
Hommage aux chercheurs et chercheuses de McGill*

McGill

MESSAGE FROM THE VICE-PRINCIPAL

(Research and Innovation)

It is once again my pleasure to welcome you to the Bravo Gala, one of McGill's most treasured annual events. For eighteen years, Bravo has celebrated the winners of prestigious national and international honours, awards, and prizes. It also serves as a time and place for reuniting with colleagues and friends in the collaborative spirit of research and innovation at McGill. One might say that Bravo is "McGill's Oscars" for the level of excitement generated by this celebration.

In 2022, the University's researchers took top honours for excellence across a broad range of disciplines:

ingenuity in French literature, work devoted to improving the lives of those living with HIV/AIDS, and a career-long commitment to addressing the inequities facing First Nations' peoples are but a few of the standout achievements we are here to applaud. This work is dynamic, inspirational, and it makes a difference for people around the globe.

It takes a village to produce prize-winning research and scholarship. That is why the McGill community at large—a group that includes fellow researchers, students and postdocs, family, and friends—are gathered here tonight in celebration. I would also like to acknowledge the dedication and hard work of McGill's research administrators and prizes and awards officers who have supported the honourees in their endeavours. Thank you.

I wish you all an inspiring and enjoyable evening. It is an honour for me to work among the excellence that McGill's research community represents. And so, to you, McGill's honourees, it is my delight to say "Bravo!"

Martha Crago, C.M., Ph.D., D.Sc.

MESSAGE DE LA VICE-PRINCIPALE

(Recherche et innovation)

Une fois encore, j'ai le plaisir de vous accueillir au gala Bravo, l'un des événements annuels les plus attendus à McGill. Depuis dix-huit ans, ce gala salue les lauréates et lauréats de prix et distinctions de prestige sur la scène nationale et internationale. C'est aussi l'occasion de se réunir entre collègues et amis dans un esprit de collaboration pour la recherche et l'innovation à McGill. Vu l'effervescence qui entoure l'événement, on pourrait dire que le gala Bravo, c'est la soirée des « Oscars de McGill ».

En 2022, des chercheuses et chercheurs de l'Université ont enlevé les honneurs de l'excellence dans une foule de disciplines : inventivité en littérature française, amélioration de la qualité de vie des patients atteints du VIH/sida, engagement de toute une carrière contre les inégalités touchant les peuples des Premières Nations; ce ne sont là que quelques exemples des réalisations impressionnantes que nous applaudissons en cette occasion. On parle d'un travail aussi dynamique qu'inspirant qui change des vies partout dans le monde.

Il faut toute une communauté pour produire des travaux de recherche et travaux savants primés. C'est pourquoi l'ensemble de la communauté de McGill – chercheuses et chercheurs, étudiantes et étudiants et stagiaires postdoctoraux ainsi que parents et proches – est ici ce soir pour célébrer. Je tiens à souligner le dévouement et l'ardeur au travail du personnel d'administration de la recherche à McGill et des responsables des prix et distinctions, qui ont soutenu les lauréates et lauréats dans leurs projets. Merci.

Je vous souhaite, à toutes et à tous, une soirée aussi agréable qu'inspirante. C'est pour moi un honneur que de travailler dans ce milieu d'excellence qu'est celui de la recherche à McGill. C'est donc avec une grande joie que je vous dis « Bravo! », lauréates et lauréats de McGill.

Martha Crago, C.M., Ph.D., D.Sc.
