Rationale	The Cognitive Science program is growing at a pace faster than our course offerings. This course expands our offerings in the area of Cognitive Psychology and Cognitive Science. This is at the junction of Psychology and Philosophy and thus is at the centre of the field of Cognitive Science and should appeal to students with a broad range of interests.
Responsible Instructor	Stevan Harnad PhD
Course Description	The main challenges that cognitive science faces today, focusing on the capacity to learn sensorimotor categories, to name and describe them verbally, and to transmit them to others, concluding with cognition distributed on the Web.
