The following ten new course proposals have been refused; Law has access via a custom Web form to have the topics entered on transcripts. Like all other faculties, Law can permit duplicate topics courses (slot courses) and use repeat indicators (I codes) to permit credit more than once for the same course number on a student’s record. No other unit has 20 topics courses, so Law should have sufficient topics courses currently existing – these should change to slot status if they currently do not have it [this may be done via memo to SCTP/ES].
