DATE: April 19, 2023

DOCUMENT #: D22-63

ACTION REQUIRED: INFORMATION APPROVAL/DECISION

ISSUE McGill University produces an annual report on staffing trends, to be presented to the HR Committee and the Board of Governors, and later to Senate for information.

BACKGROUND & RATIONALE The 2023 Staffing Report follows the format established last year. Last year, report was revised and migrated to Tableau. Tableau enables leveraging the most up-to-date annual University data captured at the end of each January.

The Staffing Report provides official staff headcounts across all categories of employees (academic, administrative and support staff) at the University with comparisons to similar counts over the previous four years. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented is a point-in-time snapshot of employee populations as of 31 January each year.

The purpose of this report is to illustrate changes in size and composition of the University’s employee population over time. Overall, McGill University counts 12,602 employees of all types, not including student and casual employees, staff with emeritus appointments, or staff on long-term disability. The total represents a four-year increase of 6.2% from 2019. Approximately 65% of employees hold academic appointments, with the remaining 32% appointed to administrative and support positions, and 3% to trades and services positions.

For review in advance, the online report has been converted to a pdf document, included here as Appendix A.

PRIOR CONSULTATION The 2023 Staffing Report was previously shared with the HR Committee of the Board of Governors and the Executive Committee of the Board of Governors.

SUSTAINABILITY CONSIDERATIONS

The Staffing Report exists in a digital environment, requiring minimal use of paper and other resources. The digital format also allows easier insight into staffing trends, contributing to more efficient use and management of University resources.

Executive Summary

This Staffing Report provides official staff headcounts across all categories of appointments at the University with comparisons to similar counts over the previous four years. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented is a point-in-time snapshot of employee populations as of 31 January each year.

The purpose of this report is to illustrate changes in size and composition of the University's employee population over time. Drivers of notable changes are indicated here.

Overall, McGill University counts 12,602 employees of all types, not including student and casual employees, staff with emeritus appointments, or staff on long-term disability. The total represents a four-year increase of 6.2% from 2019. Approximately 65% of employees hold academic appointments, with the remaining 32% appointed to administrative and support positions, and 3% to trades and services positions.

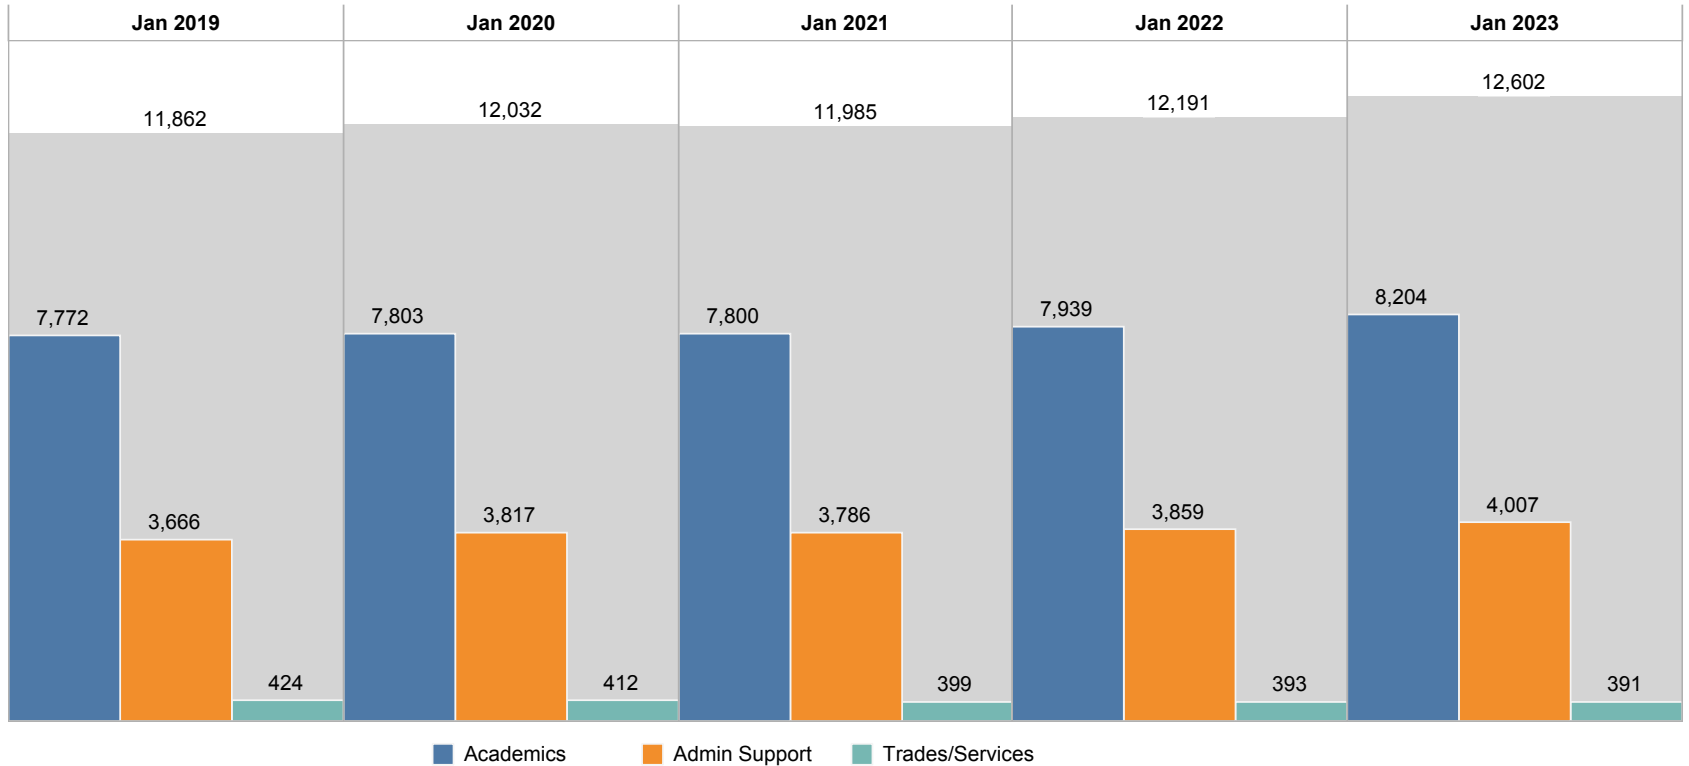

Academic Staff

- A total of 8,204 persons hold academic appointments in 2023, representing a four-year increase of 5.6% since 2019. This includes tenure-stream staff, ranked and unranked contract academic staff, unionized course lecturers and instructors, research associates and assistants, as well as visiting scholars.
- The total number of tenure-stream professors is 1,698, representing a four-year decrease of 0.5% since 2019, and an increase of 1.6% since 2014.
- Efforts to ensure more proactive, rigorous processes in academic recruitment initiatives have resulted in a more diverse population of incoming tenure-stream professors. Parity is reached among Assistant Professors where women now represent 50.2% of the rank, compared to 40.7% in 2014.
- The number of women tenure-stream professors at all ranks has grown by 5.8% since 2019 and by 20.7% since 2014, while the number of men has decreased by 6.7% since 2014. Among Full Professors 27.4% were women as of January 2023, up from 24.8% in 2019 and just 19.1% in 2014.
- Overall, the proportion of women among non-tenure stream academics rose to 51.9% in 2023 from 49.9% in 2019.
- Appointment of new tenure-stream professors slowed considerably in 2021, following measures implemented in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and delays with respect to international relocations. With COVID-19 restrictions being lifted, in 2022 we saw an increase in the appointment of new tenure-stream professors. Fifty-seven new professors joined McGill University in 2022 compared to an average of 78 in 2018 to 2020 (excluding 2021 as an anomalous year).
- The number of departures among tenure-stream professors was higher than usual in 2022, with 77 departures compared to an average of 59 in 2018 to 2020. The proportion of departures due to retirements was higher than usual in the last two years, at 57%, compared to 45% in the 2017-2020 period. Reasons for departures will continue to be monitored in the coming years for new trends. Over the last five years, retirements and voluntary resignations accounted for the highest number of departures (152 retirements and 128 resignations).
- The number of ranked Contract Academic Staff (CAS) who hold neither a clinical nor a post-retirement appointment is 719, which represents 18.0% of all ranked CAS, in 2023.
- Unionized academic staff total 1,382 (not including tenure-stream professors in the Faculty of Law). The total number of course lecturers and instructors decreased by 7.1% since 2019 to 706. The total number of research assistants and associates has increased by 43% since 2019 to 676. To ensure compliance with new provisions introduced in 2020 to the Labour Standards Act, a directive restricting the use of casual research assistant appointments was implemented. This has since resulted in an increase in the number of staff being appointed as regular research assistants.

Administrative and Support Staff

- The total number of administrative and support staff as of January 2023 stands at 4,398, an increase of 7.5% since 2019. Between 2021 and 2023, the overall staff complement has seen a net increase of 213 positions. The complexity of our environment continues to evolve, impacting delivery of our services, renewal, development and expansion of our infrastructure, our ability to successfully compete for research funding, provide crucial support to our students and commitments to major initiatives such as equity, diversity, and inclusion across the community. This necessitates the recruitment of professional staff with the level of expertise and experience that will allow the University to sustain these demands, execute its mission and maintain its world-renowned reputation for excellence in teaching and research.
- Although over the five-year reference period staffing trends have remained consistent within most of the employee groups, the most significant and notable change over the last year can be seen within the MPEX and Clerical groups. As a result of the unionization of M1 positions effective September 9, 2022, 572 unionized M1s were integrated into the MUNACA bargaining unit in late fall 2022. As such, the Clerical group increased by 71.6% and the MPEX group, comprised of management and professional staff, saw a reduction of 385 staff for a net decrease of 14.7%.
- The effect of unionization of the M1s also shifted the proportion of MPEX and Clerical groups within the administrative and support staff category. Whereas in 2022 almost 62% of Administrative and Support staff were in MPEX positions and 18% in Clerical positions, in 2023, the Clerical group now makes up almost 30% of this category while the MPEX group has dropped to 51%. The decrease in the MPEX group has been mainly in term positions, with a decline of 226 term positions in comparison to a decrease of 159 regular positions.
- The proportion of all administrative and support staff in full-time and part-time positions remains stable at 94.9% and 5.1% respectively for this reporting period. The distribution of administrative and support staff across the University has also remained consistent across the five-year reference period. In 2023, 46.7% (2,055) of administrative and support staff are in Faculties and Libraries, while 53.3% (2,343) are in Institutional Administrative Units.
- The proportion of women among administrative and support staff continues to remain relatively stable as well across the five-year reference, with approximately 20% in the trades and services and 70% in the remaining categories combined.
- Last year, the Staffing Report included, for the first time, institutional turnover data specific to Administrative and Support Staff. This year's data shows a continuation in the post-pandemic upward trend, with a turnover rate of 12.7, slightly more than 2% higher than the previous year's rate. This heightened turnover is more acute in certain areas of our operations and is in line with the experience of other Quebec and Canadian employers.
