- Child and Youth Care in Action IV: Responding to Our Current Times conference (May 1-3, 2014)

The 21st century is marked with a variety of unique and intersecting issues, opportunities, and political realities. Child and Youth Care (CYC) theory and practice continues to take place within and in response to a range of relationships, discourses, and institutions. Our relationship with the physical world is now understood with a sense of urgency as never before. Globalized economic systems are impacting how we organize on institutional and even interpersonal levels. Technologically mediated worlds are altering who we are, how we engage with each other, and how we envision and enact futures together. For further details, see link or attachment.

- Faculty of Arts Undergraduate Research Internship Awards (ARIA) 2014

The Arts Internship Office is pleased to announce the launch of the Arts Undergraduate Research Internship Awards (ARIA) Summer 2014. Established by Dean Christopher P. Manfredi in 2010, the purpose of the Arts Undergraduate Research Internship Award (ARIA) is to support undergraduate students who undertake research during the summer under the direct supervision of a faculty member. Students contribute to the professor's research agenda while gaining useful academic research skills.

For summer 2014, the Faculty of Arts will provide undergraduate Research Internship Awards, each with a value $2000. These awards are matched by individual faculty members or their departments to provide a total award of $4000 to the student.

In the first three years of the program, a total of 120 awards were disbursed to students in nearly every department and program in the Faculty. The students engaged in a high level of scholarship, enhancing their research skills and knowledge of their fields, and received mentorship from their supervising professors. Professors gained research support from some of the Faculty's brightest students.

Application deadline: March 24th, 2014. For more information, please see:
