- Accompagner et soutenir les couples immigrants en processus d'intégration (16 avril 2014)

Le projet migratoire des couples et des familles recèle souvent l'espoir de se donner de meilleures conditions de vie et possibilités d'avenir. Cependant, intégrer une nouvelle culture modifie considérablement les rapports de couple et l'organisation familiale. Chacun doit réinventer la façon d'incarner son rôle, dans un contexte social, économique et culturel différent. Les partenaires peuvent avoir de la difficulté à cheminer au même rythme et conserver l'équilibre du couple. Certaines blessures du passé peuvent également ressurgir. Tout ce processus de changement peut générer des tensions entre les partenaires et mettre à risque la relation conjugale et familiale. Dans ce contexte, soutenir le couple en période de transition et d'ajustement permet de mettre en lumière les perspectives de chacun et miser sur les forces de la relation, de manière préventive. Comment peut-on offrir des services aux couples dans nos différentes ressources? Quelle approche préconiser pour favoriser la participation du couple et de la famille pour le mieux-être de chacun?
