2017

Sociology is a thriving department within the Faculty of Arts. It comprises an outstanding team of well-established and emerging scholars who pursue rigorous empirical research with a strong foundation in social theory. Research focuses on three core areas: comparative political sociology and development, diversity and inequalities, and population and health. Over the five past years, we recruited six exceptional young scholars who conduct cutting-edge research in areas such as data science, network analysis, and relational ethnography. Our last recruit, Peter McMahan, will join the department in August.

As a sign of excellence in our research, 40 percent of the faculty currently hold prestigious endowed chairs and professorships. Faculty members continued to distinguish themselves throughout the year. Thomas Soehl was awarded an SSHRC Tier 2 Canada Research Chair in International Migration. Barry Eidlin and Eran Shor received a Best Paper Award from sections of the American Sociological Association. Shelley Clark and John Hall were awarded visiting fellowships at prestigious universities. Faculty members were also successful in securing grants as principal investigators from external granting agencies. Barry Eidlin, Jennifer Elrick, Amélie Quesnel-Vallée and Eran Shor received funding from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC), and Barry Eidlin obtained funding from the Fonds de recherche du Québec – Culture et Société (FRQSC). With these new grants, an overwhelming proportion (85%) of faculty now holds funds from major granting agencies.

Members of the Department were very productive. Faculty members published 4 books with renowned presses, 35 articles that appeared in highly regarded peer-reviewed journals, 11 book chapters, and several other publications. They gave 42 invited talks and 30 conference presentations in different venues outside of McGill. They were closely involved in organizing several conferences that were held on McGill premises: the 85th ACFAS Congress, the Canadian Research Data Centre Network (CRDCN) Annual Meeting and a Colloquium on Didier Fassin. They also organized and chaired a number of sessions at the annual meetings of several professional associations (e.g., American Sociological Association, Social Science History Association, Council for European Studies).

In addition to the programs offered to its own students, the Department is responsible for the M.A. and Ph.D. option in Population Dynamics offered to students from Economics and Epidemiology, and for the Minor Concentration in Canadian Ethnic and Racial Studies. Department members are also closely involved in academic programs offered in International Development Studies (IDS), Women’s Studies (WMST), and Industrial Relations. Adding to this broader contribution to the University’s teaching, Jason Carmichael was the program director of the Minor in Social Entrepreneurship. Both our graduate and undergraduate students have been successful in securing grants and awards. Of particular note, Luyang Zhou received from our Department the Everett C. Hughes Research Award and Xavier St-Denis the Lucia Benaquisto Teaching Award. Our trainees have been very active in disseminating their work through publications and conferences and they have been successful in getting positions at highly ranked universities and organisations.

A. HONOURS, AWARDS, AND PRIZES

Shelley Clark was awarded a fellowship at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences (CASBS) at Stanford University and appointed a James McGill Professor.

Barry Eidlin received the Charles Tilly Best Article Award from the American Sociological Association Section on Comparative Historical Sociology for his paper “Why Is There No Labor Party in the United States?” published in American Sociological Review.

Jennifer Elrick received the Canadian Sociological Association’s Outstanding University of Toronto Graduating Sociology Student Award.

John Hall was Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professor for Distinguished Teaching in the Center for Human Values at Princeton University.

Eran Shor received the Best Article Award from the American Sociological Association Section on Communication, Information Technologies, and Media Sociology for his paper “A Paper Ceiling: What Explains the Sex-Ratio Inequality in Printed News Coverage?” published in American Sociological Review.

Thomas Soehl was awarded an SSHRC Tier 2 Canada Research Chair in International Migration.

Joanne Terrasi, Coordinator of Student Affairs, was the recipient of the 2017 Faculty of Arts Award of Excellence for Administrative and Support Staff.

B. HIRES

The Department recruited one tenure track Assistant Professor, Peter McMahan, for a position in advanced quantitative methods. Professor McMahan will join the Department in August 2018.

C. SELECTED PUBLICATIONS (see Appendix A, Section 1)<sup>a</sup>

Members of the Department have published in a diversity of Canadian and international prestigious journals and publishing houses. Here is a short list testifying to this diversity.

E. EXTERNAL RESEARCH GRANTS AWARDED (as PI) IN 2017 (see Appendix A, Section 3)

Brauner-Otto, Sarah, Directeurs d'Études Associés (DEA), Fondation maison des sciences de l'homme. “Institutional Influences on Low Fertility in a New Data World.” 2017. 3,300 Euro.

Eidlin, Barry, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC - Insight Development Grant). “Does Democracy Pay? Determinants of Organizational Effectiveness in Labour Unions.” 2017-2019. $68,000.

Eidlin, Barry, Fonds de recherche du Québec – Société et culture (FRQSC - Soutien à la recherche pour la relève professorale). “La démocratie et l'efficacité organisationnelle : y a-t-il un compromis? Le cas des syndicats.” 2017-2020. $45,000.

Elrick, Jennifer, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC - Insight Development Grant). “Specifying the Role of Immigration Bureaucracies in Immigration Control: A Historical Case Study of Canada, 1952-1976.” 2017-2020. $61,250.

Quesnel-Vallée, Amélie, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC – Connections Grant). “Data visualisation for population analytics: developing talent to assist decision-making in the era of big data.” 2017-2018. $24,009.

Shor, Eran. Social Sciences & Humanities Research Council (SSHRC - Insight Development Grant). “A Comparative Analysis of Counterterrorist Legislation and its Consequences in Five Democracies.” 2017-2020. $62,361.

All faculty members hold ongoing research grants either as PI or Co-Investigators.

F. INSTITUTIONAL AND DISCIPLINARY CONTRIBUTIONS

Editorial positions: Faculty members provided editorial support for the following journals: Archives of Sexual Behavior; British Journal of Sociology; Cahiers québécois de démographie; Canadian Review of Sociology; Canadian Studies in Population; Cogent Social Sciences; Gender, Equal Opportunities,

Research; Health and Reform Observer; Journal of Marriage and Family; Nationalities Papers; Nations and Nationalism; Revue française de sociologie; Social Politics: International Studies in Gender, State and Society; Studies in Conflict and Terrorism; Studies in Family Planning; Terrorism and Political Violence; Women's Studies International Forum.

They also peer-reviewed manuscripts for nearly 40 additional journals and university presses.

Board and Advisory Functions: Serving on Board, Conference and Award Committees, faculty members supported the activities of the: ACFAS, American Sociological Association, Canadian Sociological Association, Council for European Studies, International Sociological Association, International Union for the Study of Population, Social Science History Association, Society for the Study of Social Problems.

They also served on various granting agency committees (SSHRC; FRQSC; Agence nationale de la recherche-France; Canadian Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences; National Science Foundation) and governmental entities and task forces (e.g., National Statistics Council, Centre d'études sur la pauvreté et l'exclusion), in addition to numerous committees at McGill.

G. TEACHING AND LEARNING – UNDERGRADUATE AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

In 2017, 42 students were enrolled in our graduate programs (7 in the Population Dynamics option and 6 in the Gender and Women Studies option), and 709 in our undergraduate programs (Major, Minor and Honours). Four students received their Ph.D. degree during the course of the year, four completed their M.A. degree, and 138 graduated from our bachelor's programs (91 Minor, 75 Major, 1 Joint Honours and 6 Honours).

Over half of our graduate students hold fellowships or awards (Appendix B, Section 3). In 2017, Ph.D. student David Amasyali received an SSHRC Doctoral award and Alicia Poole was awarded an SSHRC Masters scholarship. In addition, Ana Fostik received an SSRHC Postdoctoral fellowship. Of particular note, Luyang Zhou was the recipient of our Department Everett C. Hughes Research Award and Xavier St-Denis the recipient of the Lucia Benaquisto Teaching Award. Our trainees have also been very active in disseminating their work through publications and conferences, as shown in the following pages. Our postdoctoral and graduate students have published in highly respected peer-review journals (e.g., Injury Prevention; International Journal of Feminist Approaches to Bioethics; Journal of Marriage and Family; Law and Society Review; Nations and Nationalisms) or in other venues (Appendix B, Section 1). Finally, they gave over 75 presentations in a wide array of national (ACFAS; Association canadienne des sociologues et anthropologues; Canadian Population Society; Canadian Sociological Association) and international (American Sociological Association; Association for the Study of Nationalities; Population Association of America; Social Science History Association; Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics; Society for Social Studies of Science) conferences and venues (Section 2).

The success of our undergraduate students is also worth noticing. For instance, Elisabeth Graveline, Austin McDougall, Ariel Parienti and Corrina Vali were the recipients of the 2017 Arts Research Internship Awards (ARIA). Four students received an award for the quality of their papers: Claire Kingston received the Mathias Bielski Prize and Mikayla vanEvery Ellis, Tyler Ryan Forget and Geneviève Westgate received the Howard E. Roseborough Prize. Molly Susannah Mayer and Michelle Chen were awarded the David N. Solomon Prize for highest overall academic standing in Sociology courses. Our undergraduate students published a stimulating issue of the Verstehen, McGill's Undergraduate Sociology Journal, and, of those who applied, many have been admitted to very good – sometimes first rate – graduate schools.
