Intent

The Cheap Sheet is a student initiative which lists free and/or cheap resources at McGill and on the island of Montreal. This initiative is part of our Frugal Scholar Money Management Program, which aims to help students with budgeting and to promote financial wellness. The tips are provided by students and updated by our office. Looking for budget-friendly activities to do in and around Montreal? Check out our Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram for our 'Frugal n' Fun Tips!'

The Cheap Sheets has several sections:

- ➢ Food
 - Cheap eats near McGill downtown, around Montreal, near Mac Campus, free food, and cheap groceries
- School Supplies
 - Cheap textbooks, school supplies, cheap clothing, toiletries and everything else
- Services
 - Haircuts, transport, travel, and bicycle purchase or repair
- Sports and Recreation
 - Parks, fitness centers, McGill clubs, skating and yoga
- Museums and Monuments
 - Art museums/galleries, history museums, and others
- > Entertainment
 - Movies and theatre, festivals, and others
- Frugal Living Tips
 - McGill students share tips on how they save money from (i.e. using less energy, meal planning, etc.)

Cheap Eats:

At / Near McGill Downtown

- Couche-Tard (Bronfman Building 1001 rue Sherbrooke Ouest) offers affordable coffee and every 5th coffee is free with the card!
- Frostbite (McConnell Engineering) exists to meet all your ice cream needs! Open Monday to Friday 12 5 p.m. They offer ice cream for $1.50 per scoop if you bring your own cup (any cup works!), and on "Toonie Tuesday" they offer $2 small cups of frozen deliciousness. They also offer free ice cream to those who received a grade of less than 30% on a midterm weighted more than 15%. They also offer free ice cream on Rowdy Day (aka Free Ice Cream Day), which is the last academic day of school of the Fall, Winter or Summer semester.
- Japote (1000 Sherbrooke West, Concourse level) serves authentic Japanese food at affordable prices.
 Prices usually range from $5 to $10 for a full plate or bento (boxed lunch). Note: They are only open from Monday to Friday, 11:30am to 2:00pm, and are closed on the weekends.
- McGill Pizza (625 Milton) is a hidden gem around McGill. They offer any number of yummy comfort foods at ridiculously cheap prices. Two slices of pizza will run you $5.75 + tax, and they even offer a breakfast with 2 eggs, bacon/ham, home fries, toast and coffee for only $8.65.
- SNAX (Leacock Building) sells all kinds of, as their name suggests, snacks: pastries, cookies, candy, salads and even wraps from Aux Vivres. Their coffee is only $1 if you bring your travel mug, and if you forget it, take advantage of their Early Bird special before 10am, and get a small coffee and a muffin for $2. Cash Only.
- Super Sandwich (1115 Rue Sherbrooke O) is located in the Le Cartier building near the downtown campus. This store/depanneur offers cheap and filling sandwiches in the $4 to $5 range.
- Tim Hortons (674 Sherbrooke Ouest / 2035 Stanley) is a Canadian legend. They offer cheap coffee, hot drinks, donuts and sandwiches, and you can barely walk 3 blocks in any Canadian city without walking into one. They're reliable, everywhere and open late. Find one on the John Abbott College side of Mac Campus (Casgrain Centre), open Monday-Friday, 7:30am 7pm.
- Vinh's Cafe (Genome Building and Strathcona Music Building not the Anatomy & Dentistry Strathcona) has delicious Bahn Mi Vietnamese sandwiches, as well as soups, noodles, steam buns and desserts. The Vinhs Classic sandwich will fill you up for only $3.45 and they have several vegetarian options too!
- The Yellow Door (3625 Aylmer) runs the Rabbit Hole Café every Friday, from 12:30 2:30 p.m. during the school year (except during exams), where they provide vegan lunches in their coffee house for donations of $2+. Cash only. The meals are always vegan and you are encouraged to bring Tupperware to take home some leftovers. They also have a small food bank, so bring your McGill ID.

Around Montreal:

• Bao Bao Dim Sum (83 de la Gauchetière Ouest) is similar to Cocobun, but cheaper and yummier (in this humble writer's opinion at least). It may not be as conveniently located as Cocobun, but Chinatown is filled with sights to see, and other cheap food to eat, so it's definitely worth it. My favourite items are their mixed vegetable steamed buns ($2) and their red bean steamed buns ($2.50).

- Cachitos (3 Ste-Catherine Ouest) sells Venezuelan cachitos (croissant with filling) as well as other pastries and coffee. They have many different fillings of cachitos to try, and most are only $6.05 each. Open with reduced hours. Only accept Pay Pass and take out option.
- Cocobun bakeries (Guy-Concordia or Atwater metro stops) offer a variety of Chinese baked goods at super reasonable prices. From BBQ pork buns ($2.80) to mochi ($3.00) to custard buns ($2.80) they've got a bit of everything at several convenient locations.
- Joe's Panini (1404 Drummond) is the Super Sandwich of Concordia. They offer a variety of sweet and savory grilled sandwiches for $4.78 each and are open 24 hours to help you with those hungry all-nighters!
- Montreal Chinese Crêpes and Dumplings (37 Westminster Ave N, Montreal West) has affordable and delicious dumplings and Chinese crêpes with pricing ranging from $6.95 to $11.75 for their crêpes, and $11.99 to $14.49 for their dumplings. They also offer a student discount.
- Nouilles Star (1871 ste-Catherine W) specializes in dishes from China, Vietnam and Thailand, especially noodles and rice. Affordable prices with a very large portion Pho starting at $10.75. They also offer a $7.99 lunch special from Monday to Friday (11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.) Cash only.
- Ô Claf (formerly "Le Clafouti") (2122 Drummond) is a family run, cash only deli and sandwiches on baguettes. Plus, vegetarian & vegan options salad ($2.45 for a small), and sandwich go for $3.25 to $6.75.
- Olly Fresco (located at Carrefour Industrielle Allience downtown) is a prepared food market that serves fresh and delicious food. They have vegan and gluten-free options. They have a hot sandwich bar, hot lunch buffet and a salad bar (prices for the latter two are determined by weight). If you want something quick, they have packaged lunches, starting at $3.79. An hour before they close, they have 2-for-1 specials on selected packaged lunches on Tuesdays through Fridays. On Fridays only, the 2-for-1 special also applies to their larger packaged meals. Be sure to get there early as the food sells out fast! Note: they are closed on the weekends.
- Patisserie Harmonie (85 de la Gauchetière Ouest) has similar pastries to Cocobun, but in my opinion tastier and for similar prices!
- Pushap (5195 Paré / 4777 Blvd des Sources pick up only), the people who make all the McGill samosas for sales (known as "Samosa Gods") have a physical location and it is filled with CHEAP Indian food. Seriously, their entire menu is vegetarian (with quite a few vegan options) and all of the options are less than $6. Main meals are less than $13 for one person which include the combo, two samosas, tea, and dessert. Take-out and delivery options available.
- Restaurant Nilufar (1923 Ste-Catherine Ouest) A great little Middle Eastern restaurant near Guy-Concordia with a lot of vegan, halal, and gluten-free options. It's ridiculously good and doesn't break the bank with $6 falafel pitas and all plates under $18. The owner is also the sweetest person and her presence fills the restaurant with light.
- Yifang Fruit Tea (90 Rue De La Gauchetière O) provides the cheapest bubble tea in Montreal (around $6 which is $5 cheaper than most) and students get a 10% discount!

At / Near Mac Campus

 Annie's Sur Le Lac (76 Ste-Anne) offers great pub food at great prices. On Tuesdays, they have a $6 special on burger and fries or 6 chicken wings. They also have $3 taco special on Thursdays (open during the summer months).

- Crème de la Glace (152 Ste-Anne) is an ice cream stand conveniently located right off the boardwalk in Ste-Anne-de-Bellevue (open for summer only).
- Cunningham's Pub (75 Ste-Anne) has a Wing Night on Tuesdays, which is a 20% special on their signature chicken wings. Online ordering for pick up or delivery.
- Out of the Garden Project is a student-run café at Mac Campus that serves healthy and delicious food at a cheap price! Sandwiches go for around $4, and soups and salads at $3! They also have a $1 breakfast. You could also volunteer to earn free meals (academic year only).
- Studio 77 (271 Lakeshore Road) is a trendy café located in the Pointe-Claire Village. They have a wide range of delicious meals. Every Monday, they have $3 lattes!
- Wild Willy's Ice Cream (20 Cartier) is one of the most popular and tastiest homemade ice cream places, located in the Pointe-Claire Village! They have a wide selection of flavours, and they even sell frozen yogurt and ice cream sandwiches!

Free Food:

- Bagel Breakfast The Mac Campus Graduate Student Society offers a free bagel breakfast for graduate students (both Master's and PhD). Check their website and social media for updates (academic year only).
- Free Food on Campus and in Montreal is the go-to place to find free food around McGill and elsewhere. Posts are made daily on any free food students have found around, and you can bet that if there is any free food, the eagle-eyed guys in this group have found it!
- Happy Belly is a club at Mac Campus that provide healthy food options for students. They collect food from nearby grocery stores and farms, and are in partnership with Macdonald Student-Run Ecological Garden to provide students with locally grown food. They cook and serve free vegan-friendly healthy lunches. Volunteering at Happy Belly will also get you some free food. They offer free, online bi-weekly talks about waste reduction and eco-friendly tips on their Facebook page.
- The Midnight Kitchen (SSMU Building) offers free vegan meals during the school year on Thursdays from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. in the SSMU Building. There is a limited number of lunches available, and it's a first come first served basis. Masks are required. Consult their website for full details.
- Soup and Science is held for one week at the start of the Fall and Winter semesters for undergraduate science students. Each day, professors speak briefly about their research and current projects. Following these talks, all attendees receive free soup and snacks. You can also mix/mingle with the professors and ask questions.

Cheap Groceries:

- Bonanza Lalumière (6852 Rue Jean-Talon E, Saint-Léonard) is a cheap supermarket where you can buy any food you like. They directly import worldwide food thus they have the best prices. New discounts come weekly. They have a space with almost perished products but still eatable at a lower price (up to 50% cheaper). I have never seen any fruit and vegetable cheaper than there on the Montreal Island. That address is very popular, near Les Galeries d'Anjou and others famous wholesalers less crowded than downtown.
- Buy Your Own Bulk is a non-profit organization that sells affordable and organic food in bulk at Mac Campus. They sell foods from grains to legumes and flour! You would pay anywhere between $0.26 to $3.40 per 100g. A list of their products and prices are posted on their Facebook Page (academic year only).
- Bulk Barn (5445 des Jockeys / 1616 rue Ste-Catherine) Bulk snacks and ingredients. Healthy, cheap and filling ideas: chickpeas (salads, hummus, roasted), lentil (soup, curry), kidney beans (soup, enchiladas, chili), nuts and dried berries (whole cranberries = best). They have a 15% student discount on Wednesdays and offer 15% off your order on Sundays when you bring a re-useable container.

- Costco Purchase in bulk with a friend/roommate and share the value! Open during regular hours. Have a 2-day delivery option for members. Non-members can shop but may have a delivery surcharge. Costco also has a free delivery service with a minimum purchase so if you all combine what you need to meet that requirement, you can have it brought right to your door for free.
- Food apps can help you save money on groceries
 - Flashfood is an app where you can buy groceries that are approaching their expiration date (but are still good) up to 50% off. The idea behind it is to rescue foods that grocery stores would throw out just because the food's expiration date is approaching (within two weeks). Once you've placed your order on their app, you can pick up your food at a participating grocery store.
 - Flipp lets you add your local stores (grocery and other) to see all their flyers and announced sales for the week. You can also create a shopping list directly in the app!
 - FoodHero offer great discounts on items at local grocery stores that are near their best before date, or have been frozen. This can save you a lot of money on items you would plan to consume quickly or freeze anyway.
 - Metro& Moi app lets you collect points on purchases! Be sure to clip your coupons every week where you can get bonus points (35 points when you buy bananas). These add up quickly and can be redeemed.
 - Reebee is app where you can find flyers for all major grocery stores. Since it gets updated every Thursday, it's really convenient to have everything at one place. Plus, you could search for individual items to see which shop has offer for it that week.
 - Sauvegarde is an app where you can save on food and cut down on your carbon footprint! Restaurants, stores, and bakeries around Montreal use the app to make sure that day-old pastries or food that's near its expiration date doesn't go to waste. They post items at discounted prices, and often they have surprise boxes for half-off the usual cost of the items, so you can explore new foods, save money, and save the environment at the same time!
 - Too Good To Go is an app that was developed to help prevent food waste from restaurants and grocery stores. Prices vary from $4-8 for a surprise bag of food. Usually, they contain leftovers that were not sold during the day (pastries, cookies, pre-made sandwiches/salads, empanadas...) or things that will expire soon from grocery stores (produce, boxed goods, meats, cheese...).
- Fruiterie Vert Pomme (4324 rue Wellington) has affordable grocery options. They also have a discounted fruits and vegetable section.
- Kitchen Collectives are groups of people that pool their money, time and food to cook together. It allows you to meet new people and get portions of food you don't know how to, or don't have time to, cook in exchange for portions of something you can.
- Maxi (2925 Sherbrooke Est / 6381 Transcanadienne) offer price match, so it saves you time from hunting down deals in multiple stores. Show them the sale item at the other store at checkout and they will match the price.
- Mac Market is open from July to November and sells fresh fruits and vegetables at Mac Campus (at a lower price than grocery stores!). They offer a student vegetable basket every Friday (from the end of August to end of October) for $20/basket. The baskets are large, and best shared with a friend or family. Check their Facebook page for updates.
- Marché Adonis (2173 Ste-Catherine Ouest / 4601 Blvd des Sources) is another discount market (10% off with a student id). Check their weekly flyer for their best deals. Consider coming here especially if you're looking for specialty Greek ingredients.

- Marché Lobo (3509 av du Parc) is great for cheap produce and has a wide variety of Middle Eastern foods.
- Marché Newon (1616 rue Ste-Catherine Ouest, Suite 302) is located close to the Guy-Concordia Metro and is hidden on the 2nd floor of the building. It is so close to where many students live and offers a very wide variety of Asian products at reasonable prices. Despite it being on an upper level it really is a massive store!
- Marché Oriental (7101 Saint Denis at Jean Talon) Best coconut water price $3 for 1L pure 100% no additives. Stay hydrated! Also has a good selection of cheap Asian ingredients and snacks.
- McGill's Farmers' Market (available in Summer) Vegetable Basket delivers fresh veggies every week. In the summer, it's an 8-week commitment of $208 for the small basket, $312 for the large basket or $156 for a bi-weekly large basket. In the fall, it's a 9-week commitment of $234 for the small basket, $351 for the large basket or $175.50 for a bi-weekly large basket. You can pick up your basket at the Farmers' Market on McTavish Street on Thursdays between 11:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.
- McGill Student Run Ecological Gardens (available in Summer) is what I use for fresh veggies during the off times of the Good Food Box. They offer two programs a year: a 10-week in the summer and an 8-week in the fall. Their boxes are about enough food for a household of 2 people, but I effectively fed 3 people on it this summer. The 10-week summer box is $245 for students ($27 per week) and the 8-week fall box is $220, which is much less than buying the same veggies at a store. Plus, they're local, organic and the people are really nice.
- MTLK Food (1829 Ste-Catherine W) is a Korean and Japanese grocery store and offers a wide variety of affordable Asian items. Also offers ready-to-eat meals, triangle kimpab starting at 2.25$
- PA Supermarché (1420 du Fort / 5242 Av du Parc) is a chain of supermarkets with products considerably cheaper than Provigo or Metro.
- Sami Fruits (1505 Legendre Ouest / 3000 de Marche) is a grocery store specializing in fruits and vegetables and their prices are relatively lower than regular grocery stores.
- Segal's Market (4001 Blvd St-Laurent, near Duluth) is a small, cheap grocery store with a good, quality selection. Segal's is great for cheap produce, dairy, and organic products. Good for stocking up in bulk for less. Get hemp milk for the best price. However, their meat/poultry selection is limited.
- Super C (147 ave Atwater / 44 Blvd de la Cité-des-Jeunes) is a discount grocery store chain that offers small discounts on all items and large discounts on their weekly sale items. Check out their flyer to find out when they have the best deals. If you're ever making a bulk beer or wine purchase, go here! They regularly have great deals on big cases of beer and large bottles of wine.
- Various ethnic supermarkets offer the best option if you're looking for foods specific to any one culture. For Asian foods check out Marché Eden (3575 avenue du Parc), Jang-Teu Asian Supermarket (2109 Ste-Catherine Ouest) or almost any grocery store in Chinatown.

Cheap Textbooks:

- AbeBooks is a partner to Book Depository and often has some better deals if you're shipping to Canada. Prices are in US dollars so be careful with the conversion. Shipping can take 1-2 months sometimes, so order early!
- Amazon offers new and used textbooks, sometimes at amazing discounts, sometimes at full price. They tend to be fairly hit or miss when it comes to textbooks, but it's always worth looking! If you have Prime and are buying a book through Amazon, check for free 1-day or 2-day delivery.
- Book Depository is an online retailer of new and used books. Their prices are often cheaper than Amazon, and they offer free worldwide shipping, so even if their price is the same as Amazon or the Bookstore, it is often worth it to buy from here if other sources are out of stock.
- Book Finder is a wonderful resource for online textbook (and non-textbook) buying! This site will search all online book-selling websites, across all different countries, and show you the cheapest prices after factoring in shipping to wherever you are. This site is 100% your best bet at finding the best deals online and has personally saved me hundreds of dollars.
- Direct Textbook offers much the same service as Book Finder, but specializes in textbooks. I've had it turn up some offers that Book Finder missed, so it's definitely worth a search before you buy.
- General Bookstores: used or loose-leaf copies are available as a last resort. They are sold at close to full price but will save you at least some money over their new and hard-cover counterparts.
- John Abbott College Book Sale & Exchange is a sell and buy Facebook group. Many of the textbooks are also used at Mac Campus.
- McGill Textbook Exchange is a good first stop when looking for any textbooks. Chances are there are students who took the same class last term who are looking to offload their barely used, no longer needed textbooks for a steep discount.
- Robber's Roost Bookstore (Centennial Centre) has second hand books for sale; but they also sell general toiletries in small quantities, including feminine hygiene products, toothbrushes, toothpaste, Kleenex, etc. at a cheap price! Second hand text books sell for about 50% the cost of new.
- Slugbooks.com is a website where you can buy, sell, or rent textbooks. You can search for textbooks using the ISBN so you can find the exact version required by your prof. The site will compare book prices over several sellers to save you time and money. You can use it not only to compare prices to buy online, but to compare prices if buying from another McGill student (Don't get ripped off). Be sure to change the country to "Canada" in the drop-down menu before you begin.
- The Word Bookstore (469 Milton) is a used bookstore. They sell used textbooks and novels, and also buy back used books.

School Supplies:

• Dollarama has school supplies at prices up to $4. They also offer a wide variety of goods such as house décor, arts and crafts, snacks, and much more.

- Giant Tiger (6877 boul. Newman / 3374, boulevard Taschereau) Giant Tiger is a short bus, train, or bike ride from campus. It's a great place not only for cheap food, but also for clothing, small appliances, toys, and much more.
- McGill Clubs and services like Student Wellness Hub, and The Sexual Assault Centre of the McGill Students' Society (SACOMSS), as well as Campus Life and Engagement. Office Supply Stores are always the better option for buying school supplies. Places like deps (convenience stores), grocery stores and even the McGill Bookstore usually charge much more than a store like Bureau en Gros for pens and pencils. If it's an item you know you will use (highlighters, white-out, tape etc.), then buy the bigger pack; it's almost always a better deal. Consider skipping the brand-name supplies for the generic brands (all yellow highlighters are yellow) and make sure to evaluate your actual need of supplies (do you really need five different colours of pens or will three do?). Check Amazon.ca and Walmart too for office supplies.
- Other University Libraries' Wi-Fi Cafes can get expensive if you need a change in study environment. You can connect to Wi-Fi on many university campuses throughout the world using eduroam with your McGill email and password.

Cheap Clothing:

- Ardene Liquidation store (5455 Rue des Jockeys) is an Ardene outlet that sells clothing, shoes and accessories at prices lower than others, it is always on 70% discount.
- Montreal Swap Collective hosts monthly (or so) clothing swaps, for used and new clothes of all types. For every bag of clothes you bring, you can leave with a bag of clothes. Swaps are usually free, or less than $10 to attend and offer great chances to revitalize your wardrobe for cheap. If none of the locations or dates of these events work for you, consider hosting one yourself!
- Thrift Stores: Montreal has a lot of these, as well as used clothing stores called friperies. You can find clothes, accessories, furniture and household items at many of these stores. Some well-known ones include:
 - L'Actuel: Thrift Shop (88 rue Adele in Vaudreuil-Dorion) is a non-profit volunteer centre that provides services to the community. They sell clothing, shoes, books, dishes, electronics, appliances, and much more. They also have a food bank although are currently serving by appointment only.
 - Boutique Les Petits Frères des Pauvres is a great thrift shop in the plateau that has lots of fall jacket options, formal, and casual attire at a very affordable cost.
 - Le Coffre aux trésors du Chaînon is a second-hand store has clothing, shoes, books, home items and more. The revenue goes to Le Chaînon, which is a women's shelter.
 - o Église Ste-Anne-de-Bellevue has a bazaar every Tuesday between 12:30pm and 5pm!
 - Eva B (2015 Blvd St-Laurent) has grown into a Montreal institution. They offer second-hand, stylish and vintage clothes for reasonable prices, and are a great place to find some trend-setting pieces. They also have a cute (and cheap!) café in their store, boast the cheapest cappuccino in Montreal ($2.25), have an impressive 3 story patio with an apiary and garden and, all things considered, are a place that needs to be experienced by everyone.
 - Fripe-Prix Renaissance (1330 ave Mont-Royal E / 7250 St Laurent) It has everything that Value Village would have from books, clothes, pots and pans, to electronics, and more! You could find hidden gems like cross country and downhill skis. There are multiple locations including one near De L'Eglise station, and another one in the Plateau near Parc Lafontaine.
 - Hadio thrift store (308-314 Mont-Royal Ave E) for cheap clothing. They have a large section of items for $5, or 3 for $10.
 - Salvation Army Thrift Store is a chain of thrift stores throughout the island of Montreal.
 - Thrift Shops for Nova (43 Ste-Anne / 449 Beaconsfield Blvd) is a not-for-profit organization sells second hand furniture, clothes, linens, etc. at an affordable price!
 - Union Church: Boutique 24 (24 rue Maple) Their thrift shop is open every Thursday between 12pm and 4pm!
 - Value Village (2033 Blvd Pie-IX / 4906 Jean-Talon Ouest) is a large used clothing and household item store, part of whose proceeds go to benefit local charities. Consider bringing your old items to donate here, as for every bag you donate, you get a discount on your future purchases!
- Winners (Place Montreal Trust and other locations) Clothes and home items of good quality and brand names for lower prices. Sometimes/often deals on designer/brand names.

The Winter Coat Project: As of 2019, McGill's World University Services Canada (WUSC) has taken over the project. If you're an international student, you can pick up a used winter coat for free. This is also a great program to donate your used jackets to when you upgrade or move back home. More information will be available on their Facebook page.

Toiletries:

- Buy in Bulk, or at least in the biggest size available, for products you know you will use (shampoo, tampons, face wash, etc.). Travel size, or smaller sized products are never the cheapest option in the long run.
- Condoms are given out for free in many public McGill locations by Healthy at McGill, and can also be found in the offices of The Sexual Assault Centre of the McGill Students' Society (SACOMSS), Queer McGill or the Union for Gender Empowerment (UGE). Contraception, sex toys and menstrual products can also be ordered through the McGill Shag Shop.
- Dollar Shave Club offers packages delivered monthly with 4 cartridges for as low as $4.50 / month for twin blade cartridges (shipping included!). This site might market primarily to men but their razors work just as well for other genders and I'd be personally stunned if you could ever find a cheaper price for a month of razors.
- Drug Stores (like Pharmaprix or Jean Coutu) offer cheaper prices on toiletries than grocery stores or deps. Pharmaprix does have a good points system that when used appropriately can save you money in the long run.
- Consider investing in reusable period products like a period cup or washable pads. These can be reused for a long time and ultimately save you money compared to purchasing a new box of pads/tampons every month.
 - Menstrual Cups (divacup.com, mooncup.co.uk or others) are money- and environment-saving alternatives to tampons and pads. They market for around $40 and can be used for years at a time, saving you $100+ /year in disposable menstrual products. PutACupInIt.com has a quiz to help you figure out which cup would suit you best. The McGill Shag Shop also sells them.
- Tampons and Maxi Pads are available for free in the women's bathrooms in the SSMU building and in the Brown Building as well as other buildings on campus. You can pick up free menstrual products through the SSMU's Menstrual Hygiene Project. The Student Wellness Hub has free tampon samples. This is a great option if you find yourself on campus without one or just grab a few to take home with you. The McGill Shag Shop also sells them too.
- The McGill Union for Gender Empowerment offers a variety of gender empowerment and safe sex products like packers, lube, sea sponges, breastfeeding supplies, clean needles and gaffs. They also offer a female undergarment ordering service for those who feel uncomfortable or unsafe making these purchases themselves or have a limited financial capacity. All of their services are on a pay-what-you-can basis.

Everything Else:

- Facebook Marketplace Find textbooks for your classes for a fraction of the original price, and re-sell them once the semester is finished to make the money back and help another student out. You can also buy school supplies and other second-hand items.
- Free and for Sale and Mac Free and For Sale are Facebook Groups for past and present McGill students to buy, sell or giveaway their unwanted items. From furniture to workout equipment to food and everything in between, this group gets a bit of everything (and always for cheap!). You are especially likely to find what you need for cheap if you time your search to the end of terms (December or May)—when students are leaving, and suddenly realize they can't take so much stuff home—or July 1 (moving day in Quebec)!

- Groupon offers tons of discounts on activities, travel, goods, and food.
- IsThereAnyDeal.com is your one-stop-shop for buying video games online, mainly for PC games. Simply enter the game you're looking for, and they search through 34 different online video game retailers to find the cheapest price. For each game and site, they also offer historical low prices so you know that you're getting a good deal. You can even sync your Steam, Gamersgate or GOG wish lists and set the site to email you when good deals arrive.
- McGill Computer Taskforce offers free printing to Science and Arts and Science students, in the Burnside basement. Otherwise, check out Copi-EUS in McConnell Engineering for cheap printing.
- Montreal Used Book Swap (private group) hosts monthly book swaps where you can bring your already read books and exchange them for ones that are new-to-you. Entrance is free, and books of any language are welcome!
- Steam everyone's favourite online video game retailer, has massive sales a few times a year. Prices usually drop by 10-90% on almost every game in store, so it's usually worth it to wait, if you can, before buying a new game. They have summer and Christmas sales every year and have been known to have Easter, Thanksgiving and even Chinese New Year sales too.
- The Kijiji "Free Stuff" and the Craigslist "Free" sections can have some awesome hidden deals. Kijiji and Craigslist are also great places to look for cheap furniture, household items, bikes, and apartment listings. Make sure you buy and sell safely and always arrange to meet in a public place.
- The PC Optimum Card allows you to accumulate points at Provigo, Esso and Pharmaprix and you can redeem your points for food and other essentials.
- Unidays- Current students in higher education can sign up to get discounted deals on products and services. I have it and it works for McGill students.
- The SPC Card is a student discount card. It's 10$ for the card annually and you get discounts on 450+ brands all year long. Some brands include Amazon.ca, Apple, Thai Express, and many more!

- Académie de Coiffure Hilda (4621 de Salaberry Suite #1) is a hair school offering their students' services for cheap ($15 for a haircut for women, $10 for a haircut and beard trim for men) located in the northern part of Montreal.
- Académie de coiffure Tornade is a chain of hair styling schools. The closest location to campus is on St. Denis at St. Joseph. You can get your hair cut by a hair styling student or a certified stylist. Price: $12.17+ for a haircut (male or female).
- The Bunz's Facebook Group is a barter only community where you can make trades depending on what the other person is looking for. Some people post furniture, clothing, or stuff they just want to get rid of. Sometimes people also offer advice or services as they are looking to improve their skills like doing nails, tattooing, dying hair, etc. It is a wonderful and sustainable way to save money!
- Coiffure Benny (2030 Frontenac) offers a no frills, quality men's haircut for cheap ($12).
- Coiffure Pierre (500 Sherbrooke Ouest) is no-nonsense, no-frills barbershop offering haircuts to people with short hair for $20. This place is located just east of campus and your entire haircut is likely to take only 20 minutes.
- École de Coiffure International (4755 ave Van Horne Suite 107) offers cheap haircuts done by their students. Starting at $11 for women and $8 for men, it's hard to beat their prices. They also so colour, highlights, and styling. Just be aware that it may take longer than usual as it will be a student cutting your hair!
- Gordon Robertson Beauty Academy (240 Beaurepaire Drive) is a school offering their students' services for cheap (ranging from $10 $15) just a short bus ride or bike from Mac Campus.
- Haircuts for Anyone (390 St-Zotique Est) is committed to giving people of all genders, sexes, sexualities and ethnicities haircuts without judgment. They charge $30 $70 depending on your income, making them a wonderful project to support.

Transport around Montreal

- Communauto is a car rental service. If you have a driver's license, you're 18 or older, and you are going somewhere far, this is definitely the best alternative to Uber. It is hourly rated, and $56 for a whole day and they even pay for gas.
- BIXI is a bike sharing program that is incredibly popular in Montreal. They have 460 stations throughout the city and offer several options for people looking to use their bikes. A single trip of 30 minutes or less costs $2.99 and a full day's access (with unlimited 30 minute trips) costs $5.25. If you have a Photo OPUS card, a single 30-minute trip will cost $2. Through McGill, students can receive a 15% discount on an annual BIXI membership which takes the price from $97 to $82.45 and allows the user 45-minute trips instead of 30-minute trips. BIXI stations are open from April 15 to November 15 annually.
- Drivesafe and Walksafe are two great student services. Drivesafe (514-398-8040) is a free transportation service operating on Thursdays-Saturdays from 11pm to 3am that will drive students anywhere on the island of Montreal. Walksafe (514-398-2498) is a free walking companion service operating Sunday Thursday 9pm to 12am and Friday-Saturday 9pm to 3am that will walk with you anywhere on the island of Montreal.

- Self-Serve Bikes Service (Laird Hall room 101) is a free bike rental serviced offered at Mac Campus only. The service is available from 6am to 11pm and you could rent it for a maximum of 3 hours. A valid McGill ID card is required.
- STM Montreal (Metros, trains and busses) offer significantly reduced fares to students. A student OPUS card costs $15 and you can now apply for it through Minerva, avoiding the yearly line at Berri-UQAM. The best option for a student who will use transit every day or many times a week is the 4-month pass, which was designed, with students in mind, to be the length of one term. It costs $220, which breaks down to $55 per month, and it will save you the hassle of reloading your OPUS card along with everyone else on the 1st of every month. If you'd rather do the pass by the month, the student OPUS is $56.50 per month (compared to the regular fare at $94). These prices reflect Zone A (island of Montreal only. Prices may vary for off-island transport.
- Expedia is a great one-stop shop when booking flights or hotels. They search through all airlines and hotel companies to find the cheapest rates for you. Be sure to search in a private browser session, as many airlines and hotels will raise their prices if they see you looking multiple times on their pages.
- McGill Rideshare is a Facebook group to help past and present McGill students organize ride-sharing. The group is especially active around the holidays (when many students are travelling home) and splitting gas is usually cheaper than buying a ticket on a bus, train or plane. Always be safe, however, as there is a greater risk when travelling with other students than when using official transport.
- Megabus offers the cheapest option to anyone travelling to Ontario or the USA. If booked months in advance. Consider reserving a seat when you book. It only costs a few extra dollars and guarantees you the aisle or window seat you prefer.
- Porter is a discount airline service for most major Canadian cities and major northern U.S. cities. Their service is excellent, and their tickets are often hundreds of dollars cheaper than their competitors, so they're always worth a look when booking flights.
- Via Rail is potentially the most comfortable option for travelling, with on-train Wi-Fi, food and drink service, and large bathrooms. Their tickets tend to run more on the expensive end but can be reasonable if you book in advance. They have sales every Tuesday on last minute deals and offer the youth rate to all students under 25 (or present a valid student ID card or an ISIC card for students 26 or older). On top of the student discount, you can get the McGill discount when travelling for university-related activities. For more information, visit McGill Travel Services.

If you live in Ste-Anne's, check out their website. TIP: The McGill Library has many fiction and non-fiction (non-academic) books and e-books that you can borrow to read at home. You will be surprised to see all your favorite genres and authors there!
- The Schulich School of Music sometimes offers free music concerts and classical music recitals by McGill music students.

Here are some general frugal living tips that could help you save money during your studies!

General Tips

- Define your wants and your needs. Like, before spending money on something, ask yourself whether you want it, or you need it. It'll help you make more intelligent choices.
- Make a budget so that you know what your monthly expenses are and how much money you can spend/save and see if anything needs to be adjusted. Here's how to start.
- Do it yourself Pinterest has many recipe ideas as well as home decoration and crafting ideas. YouTube also has tons of how-to videos on pretty much anything from knitting to cooking.
- Use less energy turn the lights off when you're not in the room and use less heating/air conditioning when you're sleeping or away from home. Unplug small appliances that you are not using. Hang your clothes up to dry instead of using the drying machine (super useful if in Rez when each cycle is $2!).
- Run your washing machine/laundry machine outside of peak hours to save money on your hydro bill.
- Dilute cleaning products or hand soap with water to stretch out the product and make it last longer.
- Check bills and statements for mistakes or overcharges, and get errors corrected.
- Be careful if you have set up automatic payments of any kind some services and subscriptions can keep deducting money from your account even if you have stopped using them. If this happens, call them to make sure that they cancel it. It is important that you always know what you are paying for and where your money is going.
- Mend your own clothing-- If you lose a button or have a small hole in your clothes these can be really easy to fix. Just get a needle and thread and follow along on a YouTube video. This can save a lot of clothes from needing to be replaced too soon.

- Negotiate on rent when looking for an apartment. Usually the rent listed in apartment advertisements is not set in stone. It's always worth trying to negotiate price with the lesser. This worked for me recently and I managed to reduce the advertised rent by $25/month.
- When living with roommates, you can opt for the smallest/least desirable room and negotiate that you pay less than the others.
- Doing home workouts is a good way to save money and stay in shape. YouTube also has tons of free fitness videos.
- Compare prices on Uber, Lyft, taxis, before booking a trip. Often times one is way cheaper than the others.
- Biking in the summer saves you a lot of money and often gets you places faster than the bus depending on where you live.
- Get creative and think of how you can re-purpose items that can both save the planet, and money in your pocket. Reuse, reduce, and recycle whatever you own, and re-purpose it to serve another purpose other than it's original one. If you need storage containers for anything, re-use packages or containers from cheeses, cookies, or pastries to store other food!

Shopping Tips

- Check flyers to buy items on sale. You can usually find flyers near the store entrance. You can also check publisac.ca, which lists flyers from different retailers in your surrounding area.
- Ask for Student Discounts When shopping at the mall or even at a food court, always ask if there is a student discount available. Sometimes student discounts are available, but not always advertised and cashiers forget to ask. Be sure to bring your student ID.
- Bring reusable shopping bags whenever you go shopping. Many stores charge for plastic bags, so it's a way to save money and to be ecofriendly.
- Consider buying generic/store brand products (like Great Value or No Name). They're cheaper and taste identical to name brands.
- Buy things second-hand from sites like Facebook Marketplace and Kijiji when you're decorating/furnishing your apartment.
- Stalk up on items you use on a regular basis when they're on sale (e.g., pantry items, cosmetic products).
- Going grocery shopping at certain days of the week you can get student discounts, like shopping at Provigo only on Mondays because you can get the PC optimum card for free, and when you show your student ID, you get 10% of the total purchase as points you can cash in later.

Food Tips

- Prepare your own meals Eating out is expensive and you can save some extra cash by shopping for groceries and cooking meals at home. There are many YouTube videos dedicated to meal prepping on a tight budget.
- Plan your meals before grocery shopping. It's easier to stay on track and not to overspend when you shop with a list.

- The Tiny Budget Cooking website offers a free downloadable cookbook that includes meal plans and recipes for breakfast, lunch, and supper. They also have meat and vegetarian options and ingredient swaps.
- Cook in batches and freeze meals which will save you time and make your food last longer.
- Cook with your roommate(s), if possible, so you can buy a larger quantity of groceries including bulk purchases which can make grocery shopping cheaper.
- Bring a lunch cafeteria food and eating out is expensive. Whenever possible try to bring a lunch and/or snacks along with you.
- Make your own coffee or tea at home. It can save you money versus ordering a $4 latte at a coffee shop.
- Grow your own herbs Stores tend to charge a lot for fresh herbs. Dried herbs are a great alternative but if you're set on using fresh, consider growing your own. If you have a sunny window many herbs are super easy to care for and will save you money in the long run.
- Make sure to wash, cut, and store veggies after you buy them! If you cut the veggie right after shopping it guarantees that you will actually eat it and that it won't go bad. Make sure to store fruit and veggies wrapped in paper towel and in an air-tight container. Your food will stay crisp for over a week! Freeze what you can't eat in the next 3 days.
- Buy frozen veggies. Cheap and last longer.
- Save veggie scraps (onion, carrot garlic, etc.) to make your own broth! Boil scraps in a pot with water and add spices.
- Use canned ingredients: bean salad, tomato chickpea curry, etc. Eating foods legumes and beans is high protein which keeps you full and is the cheapest way to eat.
- Reward cards if you must have Starbucks or Second Cup, they offer a reward system where each dollar you spend earns you points, and after a certain number of points, you earn free drinks.
- Free beverages/food on your birthday some cafes and restaurants will give you free food and/or drinks on your birthday if you sign up for their rewards program in advance and with proof of ID. Some cafes/restaurants include Starbucks, Harvey's, Baskin & Robbins, and Tim Hortons.
- Free Cone Day a day in early April where Ben & Jerry's ice cream stores give out free ice cream.

Event Tips

- Be involved on campus and attend events to get free or cheap food.
- Plan your activities ahead of time and to see what free events are taking place. Montreal has tons of free festivals and events throughout the year.
