

COVID-19 Health & Safety Measures

Updated August 2021

Expectations in Residence - Compliance to COVID-19 Rules

All COVID-19 rules in residence must be adhered to. As public health restrictions change in Montreal, communication to students will be sent via your McGill email.

Please understand that COVID-19 rules are imposed on all of us by the governmental decree. As such, McGill is only a “messenger” and does not impose these rules on students of its own initiative. McGill only seeks to create an environment where governmental rules are followed, thus creating an environment that is safe for its students and staff.

Restrictions in place due to COVID-19

At this time (August 2021), our planning of COVID-19 measures include one-meter distancing and mandatory mask wearing but these may change as the situation evolves.

The residence guest policy is subject to change based on the evolving COVID-19 situation as well as provincial governmental directives. Off-campus guests and visitors are prohibited for the month of September. Students may visit other students within their own residence building while respecting all COVID-19 physical distancing health and safety measures. This policy will be reviewed and updated throughout the academic year based on the COVID-19 situation at the time.

COVID Disciplinary Measures

NON-COMPLIANCE & MCGILL CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT

Any non-compliance of COVID regulations will result in a disciplinary follow up. SHHS is utilizing the McGill Code of Student Conduct’s disciplinary process and sanctions. The following illustrate the measures outlined in the code that may be used:

- short-term exclusion from residence as described in Section II: Administration of Discipline Article 21. Such short-term exclusion is an interim order and does not result in and of itself in a disciplinary offence.
- when there is evidence of a violation of the COVID rules, a student will be called to a disciplinary process the outcome of which may be an exoneration, admonishment (defined at art. 28), or a reprimand (defined at art. 29). When the student is found responsible for the offence, they may be imposed additional sanctions, such as conduct probation (defined at art. 30) and possibly longer term exclusion from residences or termination of lease (art.51), or exclusion from the entire university in extreme cases (art. 73).
