

TB SEMINAR

FRIDAY

MAY 10TH

1 PM – 2 PM

"Bringing research to the people -- and people to the research."

Erica is the Director of Community Engagement & Policy for SMART4TB, a USAID-funded TB research initiative led by Johns Hopkins University. Previously, Erica held various research, program, and policy roles in HIV, tuberculosis, and harm reduction in New York City and Baltimore, including at Treatment Action Group and the New York City Department of Health. She volunteered combatting sex trafficking in Nepal and started the Republic of Georgia's first breast cancer peer-support program. Erica received her Master of Public Health as a Sommer Scholar at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, and her Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and Psychology from Georgetown University. Outside of public health, Erica has many passions including her family, amateur mycology, cooking, and spending time outdoors.
