Dear ISoN, SPOT, and SCSD Learners,

2021 has been a year full of challenges, opportunities, new ways of doing things and the important development of vaccines. While many of you may have experienced hardship and struggle, you’ve nevertheless demonstrated resilience, innovation, and creativity in finding new ways to adapt and connect. I continue to be impressed by the energy, optimism, and abilities of learners within the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences.

I want to wish you all the best of luck in your exams and end of term work and remind you that the Faculty of Medicine & Health Sciences WELL office is here to support you in your academic, clinical, and research environments.

I invite you to look through our newsletter to find events and resources that are available to learners in the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences.

To a year ahead filled with hope, success, new beginnings, and good health!

Professor Deborah Friedman BSc pht MMgmt
Assistant Dean Student Affairs, Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences

The Office for Respectful Environments (ORE) is now responsible for the intake of mistreatment reports in clinical learning environments, triaging mistreatment reports and monitoring their progress. The ORE also works to meet University and Faculty goals of maintaining respectful learning environments that reflect the principles set out in the Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences’ Code of Conduct and expected levels of professionalism. The Director of the ORE will produce annual updates for quality improvement purposes and reports for Faculty and learner leadership.

The ORE is involved in the following activities:

- Maintaining the ORE website and mistreatment webform
- Triaging mistreatment webform submissions of clinical learning environment concerns and complaints
- Policy development
- Reporting to Faculty and learner leadership
- Collaboration with Educational Programs and Faculty Development
- Collaboration with Communications Office to ensure transparency
- Data reporting for the purposes of accreditation and quality improvement
- Making recommendations to improve the system of reporting incidents of mistreatment in clinical learning environments

Should you choose to submit an incident report, please explore your reporting options here, on the ORE website.

If you are need of guidance and support and would like to make an appointment with one of our Wellness Consultants, please do so via our Contacts and Appointments section.
