Establishing a relationship

Have you been assigned a supervisor? Have you met your supervisor?

Schedule a meeting right at the start of the semester.

Bring and complete your official Letter of Understanding.

Discuss and clarify what your role is and the expectations.

Schedule consistent check-ins to keep up-todate with each other.

Important issues you might want to discuss and/or clarify:

How do you work best?

What are you looking for out of this relationship?

What kind of feedback do they give?

Tip:

This is a professional relationship which you are one half of; claim your agency.

Check out the Supervision workshops:

- Getting started with supervision
- Sustaining supervision
- Getting the best out your supervisor

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution–Non-Commercial 4.0 International License. Teaching and Learning Services (2021), McGill University.

