

Affordable Summer Camp Guide for McGill Student Parents

Ville de Montreal

The City of Montreal offers around 150 municipal day camps run by the city and partner organizations throughout the 19 boroughs. These camps are open for 7-8 week periods and they include one field trip per week. The rates of camp differ, but they are general some of the most affordable options.

Camp Cosmos

Camp Cosmos is a very financially accessible program, providing a sliding scale payment option based on income of the family. They have an access focus and an anti-oppression based approach in general.

McGill Sports Camp

McGill Sports Camp is offering three weeks of free camp to the children of student parents (one week per child). You can read more about the stipulations above!

McGill Conservatory Camp

McGill Conservatory Camps are offering weeks of camp in collaboration with the Family Care Program as well, check out the options they have above and for info to apply.

Les Amis de la Montagne

This is a day camp for 5-12 year olds in the Mont-Royal Park in Montreal. They offer a $50/week special for families who have lower incomes, and most of their activities are outdoors.

Camp Amy Molson

An affordable overnight camp for Montreal children aged 5-13 years old. Camp Amy Molson offers sliding scale payment options starting from $320 per child per two weeks of camp, and has a less than 1 to 3 counselor to camper ratio.

Collective Community Services – Trail's End Camp

Trail's End Camp is a sleepaway camp for children from 6-17 years of age. Their rates of pay are dependent on household income.

If you know of other affordable camp options, get in touch with us and we'll add them here!